A Rare Book.

We have received from the London Times, England, a book of nearly two hundred pages of reproductions of "Punch." There has been such a demand for the famous paper that the publishers are issuing a reproduction complete of the first was too low. It was suggested that lifty volumes 1841 1891 entire and unabridged in every respect, and this unique volume is specimen pages. "Punch" contains the gist for of British history since 1840, and the volumes, twenty six in all, neatly bound, will be sold for 21 guineas.

The most frequent face cartooned; is Mr. Gladstone, and he is set forth in every possible aspect as Hamlet, Macbeth, Napoleon, Micawber, and almost every other conceivable character historic, humorous, with caricatures, burlesques, etc., innumerable. This sample book is entitled, "An Evening With Punch," and we have had several evenings with it already, and it is as fresh and new as ever. We congratulate our London contemporary on the success of Bryan admits something dangerously the Consolation cups. Thurse y's this beneficent enterprise.
