Mrs. Francis F. Brown gives a dinner this Friday evening in honor of her second daughter, Mrs. Stackpole, of Boston, who soon returns to her home in the "Hub." Covers will be laid for about a dozen.

Mrs. Wm. Whitley and son Robert of Mifflinburg Penn., also Mrs. M. J. Bender and daughter Blanche of the same place, with Mrs. Wm. Eddy and son of Des Moines, Ia., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Levin.
Levin, the jeweler, is at A. P. Dunn's store, two doors north of postoffice.
We are glad to know that our suggestion of a history of the early life of the Park awakens a lively interest among the old pioneers, and some of them are sending in their reminiscences. Send them along; just what we want.
Dale Sweetland has a complete stock of High school books.
The death of Wm. McKinney, of the firm McKinney, Wiebel & Co., painters, will be a surprise to the people of the city. Mr. McKinney died in Chicago after a long severe illness. He leaves a widow and two children. His remains will be taken to Wheeling, Ill.
Mrs. E. S. Wells of Lake Forest (nee Miss Bangs) visited her old haunts in the public school building Tuesday, and found things going on very much as in the old days. The world don't stop when one school ma'am gets married any more than it does when a great man dies.
"American Lady" corsets fitted of charge at Mrs. Bohl's.
Prof. Whyte has preached what his people style two remarkable sermons the last two Sunday mornings he was here. One was on "Christianity in the Home," and the other on the "Street." They were full of telling points and practical hits, and made deep impressions.

Parts and needles for all sewing machines at Schneider & Cooke's
Wallace W. Wakem returned few days ago from his month-long trip along the New England coast. He took shipping at Boston, skirted the Maine coast, making stops along as fancy took him and so pushed on up to the Bay of Fundy, where the tide rises six times to the height of 50 or 60 feet, coming in with a rush.
Don't fail to read Mrs. Bohl's display ad, on 4th page, if you want value for your time. Ladies have found this bazar the ideal place to trade.
Madam Hitchcock, of the Steep Cottage, has been persuaded by many friends to remain in Highland Park and open a ladies' tailoring establishment. Madam Hitchcock came here from New York city where she had extensive experience in high class ladies' tailoring. She has just received a large line of samples of fall and winter suitings and would be pleased to have the ladies call and inspect them.

Bryan and Stevenson Club.
Declaration of principles unanimously adopted by the Highland Park Bryan and Stevenson club at its first meeting, Sept. 18, 1900:
First—Irrespective of past party affiliations, we, each of us, declare our unwavering allegiance and fidelity, to "the Declaration of Independence; to the Constitution of the United States, and to the flag of our country"—known and respected throughout the world as the emblem of Liberty.
Second—These three, enshrined in the hearts of the American people, must go hand in hand, and survive or perish together, and we denounce as un-American, unpatriotic and disloyal an administration that would dishonor and prostitute that flag from its high pedestal of liberty to become the base and ignoble emblem of serfs, where liberty is denied and the constitution is ignored.
Third—We believe that all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, as expressed by the majority, and that forcible annexation is criminal aggression. We, therefore, condemn the Mauser rifle and Gatling gun argument used by the administration under the name of "benevolent assimilation" to subjugate the Philippines, our former friends and allies, and who became ch at our solicitation, and whose only is that they refuse to be subjugated.

Fourth—We deplore the attempt to smother this nation on the sea of imperialism, and to embroil it with foreign powers in a strife for Europe.
Fifth—We want no Philippine or Asiatic hegemony or leprosy in our Union, no monarchy or empire; no alien subjects, no road or slaves at home, but the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence shall be upheld and maintained wherever floats our glorious flag.
Sixth—We want no large standing army to subjugate or menace the liberties of the people, subject only to the will or price of a president who, weak or misled, or for purposes of his own, or at the dictation of the trusts or money power, may use it to thwart the will of the people. It is ever the ready tool of the rants, and an incubus and a burden to a free people. We believe that the patriotism and loyalty of a justly governed people is the strong bulwark of liberty.
Seventh—We sympathize with those whose homes have been made desolate through the lives that have been sacrificed in greed of franchise and commercial gain through this unjust and needless McKinley's war upon the Philippines.
Eighth—And in furtherance of these principles, and to preserve the purity of our republic as a republic within the bounds of the Constitution, and to maintain and perpetuate "a government of the people, by the people and for the people," we hereby pledge ourselves, each to the other, to work and vote for the election of Bryan and Stevenson as the recognizedponents of the principles we here profess.
