Miss Fannie Hewes entertained a number of young lady friends last Monday afternoon, the guest of honor being Miss Edith McConnell, who left for Denver the following day.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred McConnell spent a few days in the village this week. Mr. McConnell left for New York on Wednesday afternoon and from there will probably go to Cuba.

A Republican mass meeting will be held at Prouty's hall on Saturday, October 13 at 8 p. m. Hon. Geo. W. Plummer, Merritt Starr, Horace L. Winslow and Dr. Carl M. Barnes are the speakers of the evening. Go and hear them.

The children of the primary department of the Congregational Church Sunday School expect to have a very jolly time on Saturday afternoon at a party given them by their teachers. This is one of several parties to be given to the little people this winter in the Sunday School room of the church.

It is expected that the season of the People's Club will open Sunday evening, November 4, when Miss Jane Adams, of Hull House, has consented to speak. The committee which met October 4, has planned to give Winnetka a number of exceptionally fine meetings during the coming winter with a good speaker and some good music every Sunday evening. The People's Club is a public institution for the benefit of all the people and it ought to have the support of all the good citizens of Winnetka. No effort has heretofore been made to increase the membership, but such an effort is now being made. It is the sympathy and co-operation of the people that the club requires for its success. Their attendance at the meetings, occasionally, at least. All persons above the age of 16 are eligible for membership, women as well as men, upon the payment of the nominal membership fee of one dollar for the year ending April 1901.

The "Red Fairies" of Highwood gave an entertainment Thursday evening at the Methodist church. Admission was 15 cents and the "Fairies" filled the church treasury with shakels.

Battery "D" Dancing club will give a grand masquerade ball at the Fort Sheridan Park pavilion Thursday evening October 8th. Prizes for the best dressed and most comical dressed persons.

The old Prof. Willey house being moved to the West side of the lot up next to Enoch Brand's and the enterprising owner, Moore, will erect a fine new residence on the corner of the lot and a cottage on its rear.

Horne, the photographer, has a large stock of campaign pins, badges, pencils, buttons, etc., for both parties. Many of his buttons are fine as well as unique, being his own work. One badge is a tiny handle being a good lead pencil with a little tri-colored bit of ribbon and a button attached.

The Sheridan Park manager had a very successful entertainment Saturday evening at the Pavilion. Under the management of B. C. Haslit, and the programme for this week is an usually attractive one. There is a matinee in the afternoon at 2:30 for those who cannot attend in the evening.

President W. F. Hogan received a telegram Thursday announcing the death of his brother Timothy, who died in Albany, N. Y. Wednesday heart failure at the early age of 41 years. He was a general favorite among all his friends and acquaintances, one of those amiable, open large hearted men whom every body loves. He was also a successful business man and his nature to all human appearance bright and promising. He left a widow to whom he was married a few months ago. Mr. Hogan, though his business here is very pressing, workmen being engaged on his new house, took the noon train for the east so as to be present at the funeral.

The Republicans have a rally in the Pavilion this Friday evening with speeches by H. W. Beckman, and Edwin Taylor, and for a grand campaign wind-up Senator Wm. E., better known as "Billy" Mason, will give the final speech of the season in the Pavilion October 30. It will be a fitting climax to a lively campaign. No one was ever known to go to sleep when our Senator was speaking. Some men empty the house when they speak. Billy Mason fills it and keeps it full to the end.

Instructions in manual training is absent from our school this year for the reason that a competent instructor can not be had for the compensation offered. The students all regret it—parents too.

Last Saturday while playing football at Winnetka, Eric Todd met with a painful and possibly serious accident. In one of the tussles he was crushed, breaking the shin bone and tearing the ligaments loose.

It is openly whispered that we have a "blind pig" in the village. We also have a Democratic candidate for office in town. There is no connection between the two, except that few people know about either. Fanning would make a good county commissioner, and it would be a nice thing if all his neighbors could shed their partnership and vote for him.

The series of "town meetings" so joyously begun last spring are to be continued, it seems. These meetings are informal public gatherings at which are discussed local questions of a public nature, such as village sewers, muddy roads, what is good for our school, what's the matter with our village council, annexation to Winnetka, how to improve our public morals, should democrats be permitted to reside among us, etc.

Be sure and register next Tuesday, Oct. 16.

"Hello, Hello, Central!" Give Me No. 54, Mrs. A. Bock!"

"Mrs. Bock? Well, I am a summer resident, a new comer, and I am told you have first-class groceries."
Mrs. Bock:—"Yes, ma'am; we have all the Fresh Fruits and Vegetables in the market brought to our store every morning and all the Staple Groceries at lowest prices. Free delivery to your door."
"Thanks; all my friends speak highly of your store, and I will try you. Good-bye."

MAN NEVER WITHOUT BEER.

Nineteen Centuries Before Christ the Process of Making Beer Was Taught.

When the Romans first invaded Germany they found that the beverage of the people was a beer produced from barley. But that was at a time comparatively modern. From the earliest times and in every clime, says an authority, man has had resort to some stimulating and exhilarating beverages prepared by fermenting the juices or extracts from fruits, grain or plants. It is said that Osiris as early as 1960 B. C. taught the process of extracting the juice from barley and fermenting it, while the Greeks learned how to brew and ferment from the Egyptians, who, 300 B. C., had established a number of manufactories at Pelusium, on the Nile. Xenophon, 400 B. C., refers to a fermented drink from barley, and it is alluded to by Aristotle, Strabo and others under the name of zythos. Pliny mentions a kind of beer called "cerevisia," and Eumenenes in A. D. 296 says that Britain produced such an abundance of corn that it was sufficient to supply not only bread, but a liquid comparable with wine. In the seventh century beer had become so general a beverage in England that Ina, king of Wessex, levied a tax to be paid in ale, and early in the fifteenth century a brewer's company was formed in London. Up to the sixteenth century English beer was very poor, only flavored with broom, bay berries or ivy berries, but in 1542 the cultivation of the hop plant was begun in England, and from that time a great change was made in the quality of the beer manufactured. In 1610 the first brewery was established at Burton-on-Trent, and by the end of the seventeenth century beer had become the national drink.

Girl's Essay on Boys.

At a recent school examination for girls this composition was handed in by a girl of 12, says a Missouri paper: "The boy is not an animal, yet he can be heard quite a distance. When a boy hollers he opens his big mouth like frogs, but girls hold their tongue until they are spoken to, and then they answer respectable and tell just how it was. A boy thinks himself clever because he can wade where the water is deep. When the boy grows up he is called a husband, but the grown-up girl is a widow and keeps house."
