- BIRNEY E. TRASK, Highland Park, County Surveyor.

P. A. Robinson.

The Prohibitionists have nominated for circuit clerk in this county a man who, if elected, would make a capable official. P. A. Robinson, of Gray's Lake, founder of the Merchant's and Farmer's Bank of that place, is the nominee. Mr. Robinson is not a native of this county, but was born in New York State in August, 1851. He is of German extraction, his ancestors having made their homes in the Mohawk Valley for many generations. Mr. Robinson's grandfather was a soldier in the war of 1812. His parents, in 1855, moved to Sheboygan, Wisconsin, where the candidate was reared to manhood.

Mr. Robinson ran a general store in Antigo, Wis., for eighteen years, and later at Clinton, in the same state. Coming to Gray's Lake early in the year 1899, Mr. Robinson established the Merchants and Farmer's National Bank at that place. He has just completed a fine new business building in Gray's Lake, into which he has moved his bank. The Prohibition candidate has a pleasant home. Mrs. Robinson's maiden name was Atwood. She was reared at Sheboygan Falls, Wisconsin.

While Mr. Robinson has done no campaigning, there is no doubt but that he will poll a strong vote, and especially in the western part of the county.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT (PROHIBITION).

HENRY B. METCALF, RHODE ISLAND.

Manufacturer; born, Boston, April 2, 1829; educated Boston public schools; apprentice, 1844, in wholesale dry goods business, in which he continued in Boston until 1872; since then manufacturer in Rhode Island; married, May 4, 1854, Elizabeth Freeman, of Boston. Prominent in University church; nearly forty years Sunday school superintendent; many years trustee and since 1898 president of the corporation of Tufts College; member of the Rhode Island senate, as Republican, 1885-6; now Prohibitionist. Address, Pawtucket, R. I.

FOR CONGRESS (PROHIBITION).

HARLAN P. DAVIDSON

Harlan P. Davidson, candidate for Congress in the Seventh Congressional District, is a native of New Hampshire, born in 1838. His ancestors came from Scotland. He was reared on a farm; afterwards learned the mason's trade, but becoming physically injured by an accident, he fitted himself for college, and attended Norwich University, a military institution. In 1866 he married Miss Adelaide S. Ford of Connecticut, and moved to Pennsylvania. Here he opened a school, preparatory for college. In 1871 he received an honorary degree from LaFayette College, and also an honorary degree from Norwich University. He afterwards moved to New Hampshire, principal of the high school in Somerville for two years, and principal of the collegiate institute at Salem twelve years. Political he was born in the Republican party, of Whig ancestry. He remained with the party until 1872, when he became dissatisfied with the attitude on the temperance question. During his work in New Jersey he published a Prohibition paper, (and was largely instrumental in a vigorous campaign against the liquor traffic, which, in 1870, increased the Prohibition vote in the State from 197 to nearly 20,000. In 1888 he purchased property at Highland Park and started the Northwestern Military Academy. In accordance with a joint resolution passed by the Legislature of Illinois in 1889, the Government commissioned him Colonel in the Illinois National Guard. In 1892 the Northwestern Military Academy was incorporated, and Colonel Davidson was elected the President, which position he still holds. For several years Colonel Davidson has been the instructor of Constitutional Law and Psychology in the academy over which he presides.

FOR GOVERNOR (PROHIBITION)

VISSCHER V. BARNES

Hon. Viisscher V. Barnes, the Prohibition candidate for Governor of this state, is a gentleman of whom any party may well be proud as a party leader. He was born in 1851, near Albany, N. Y. His boyhood was spent on a farm. After his parents moved to Wisconsin he attended the normal school at Oshkosh and then Oberlin college. After finishing his education he taught the high school at Kenosha, Wis., and was principal at New Lisbon, and later a professor at LaCrosse. At the age of twenty-three Judge Barnes studied law in the office of Senator Angus Cameron, at LaCrosse. In 1879 he settled at DeSmet, S. D.

His worth was soon recognized. He was elected to the territorial legislature, later to the provisional state senate for a term of four years. For three years he was county judge of Woodbury county. After moving to Yankton his law partner was Gen Hugu J. Campbell, for many years United States district attorney. Judge Barnes was United States Commissioner for six years. He was the representative of the Attorney General in prosecuting state liquor cases in Circuit and Supreme courts, involving constitutional and other questions. In the Amendment campaign he was president of the state organization for non-partisan prohibition, and was chairman of the state campaign committee that carried the state for prohibition. A lifelong Republican, he was a delegate to four state conventions, and once refused nomination for Judge of Supreme Court. He moved into this state in 1895, and soon became a Prohibitionist. In 1871 he united with the Methodist Episcopal church, and is now a trustee, and especially interested in Sunday School work. He is at the present time a member of the law firm of Barnes & Barnes, of Chicago. He is the equal of any candidate for governor in Illinois politics.
