

Prohibition Gain.
 ly accurate returns received to indicate that the vote for Woolley will be about 250,000, double the rate of four years ago. The interesting feature of this matter is that four out of five differences among the voters are caused by a split and not by a vote for prohibitionists lost about their vote. Then went from the liquor people political supporters. Prohibitionists are that is the last we shall see of them. "They will not get another national ticket and we grant there is a history, especially of American politics to be concluded. But the prohibitionists have proved a very wise use in this closing year of the nineteenth century. The vote of four and now numbers about 250,000. The increase has been form throughout the country showing that it is not due to causes, but to a general sentiment of Prohibition sentiment on the rocky coast of the golden gate of California from the sweet scented groves of Florida to the pines of Alaska. They are not sought in the past for the sake of the office, but to keep the country upside down. They are stirring in God's name as much as in them is to keep the humanity from the mania of liquor traffic.

 Isaac Goldberg's teams which are hauling brick by the scores of thousands to Lake Forest, find plenty of mud all the way.
 The public schools will have a Thanksgiving recess next week, Thursday and Friday. How many kid's in knickerbocker's will skip to the high school?
 Schneider & Cooke have a fine line of jewelry, silver novelties and silver plated ware, for their Christmas trade. It will be to your advantage to see them before purchasing elsewhere.
 Henry Detmer has finished the walls and Mr. Carlson has the roof on the new brick cottage of Wm. Davis, the engineer at the Mess hall. The cottage stands just north of the Fort Sheridan Park grounds.

There will be a special election for the "east sider's" on the idea of Park System. If we don't adopt it Chicago shark speculators will gobble up all our Lake front and then we will be in their grip with means of relief. Vote for it sure.
 Allow us to say the Vermont legislature is expected to adjourn next Wednesday night after a session of six weeks, each member and official being paid $3.00 a day for his services. It don't take all summer to do something down there.
 The subject of the sermons of Rev. A. Haefele in the United Evangelical Church Sunday morning will be "Prevailing Prayer." This service will be in the German language. In the evening the subject will be "God's Justice the Sinner's Hope."
 Call in and see our samples of calendars for 1901. They are the finest ever issued, of any variety, large and small, cheap and costly, for the office, home and boudoir, for all ages and conditions, climes and nationalities. See to it at once and get your order as the calendar season is upon us.
 Paul Gieser has been out in the county and arranged for a full supply of the finest lot of turkeys, ducks, etc., ever offered in this city for the special use of his customers this Thanksgiving. Every bird is up to his high standard of quality.
 County Judge Jones has issued a call for an election in this city, to be held December 20th. The election is to act on the proposition to organize a Sheridan Road Park District, taking in that part of the city lying between the Northwestern railway tracks and Lake Michigan, and from the county line to Fort Sheridan.

Miss Lillian Thayer will receive pupils in Vocal Culture, Charles Adams method. With Mrs. Ashton Highland Park.
 Mrs. E. E. Turner, of Santa Ana, Cal., is visiting her cousin, A. J. Dorsey, of the NEWS-LETTER. While Mrs. Turner likes her home in the land of oranges and perpetual flowers, she is frank in confessing that Highland Park is the loveliest residence town east of the Rockies.
 "Wanted, Men," will be the subject of Rev. Pfansiehl's sermon on Sunday at the Presbyterian church. Every one should hear these instructive talks, of which this is one of series delivered by Rev. Pfansiehl this fall. Strangers are cordially invited to attend.
 A few hoodlums undertook to caravari the wedding party, with opan pans, etc., Wednesday night. It left the church, but marshal Dorl we are told, ran some of them in the lock-up. He served them right and if the thing is ever repeated they be arrested and fined or kept in jail a week or two.
 Arthur N. J. Bevilard, one of the efficient men of the Electric Light Company, will leave the company next week Friday and go with A. McPherson, in the work of general electrical construction. Mr. Bevilard is a very capable and reliable young man, we have had his work and know what he can do.
 Don't read Mrs. Bock's new "a this week, lest you learn that her line of choice groceries is full and complete, that she keeps the highest grade of goods and sells at bottom prices. She does not have all the best trade in town—no one has that—but her patrons are of the choicest families in this city, and she has a lot of them, and even now it keeps five or six of them busy all the time.
 It is now definitely settled that Mrs. Milward Adams, of Chicago, will visit Highland Park December 6th. It is unnecessary to say that it is an honor to have visit us the greatest of living instructors and lecturers among not only the women of America, but of Europe as well, and it is only through the special friendship existing between Mrs. E. Erhart and Mrs. Adams that this is to be our privilege. Do not forget the date, December 6th.
 Someway Alex Noerlen, the upholsterer, learned that Tuesday was our birthday, and that our office chair, under the burden of years, was in need of repairs. He sent for it, took it to his shop, completely overhauled it, added plenty of new curled hair, put on a new leather covered cushion, reset and glued loose joints and made it as good as new and returned it in season for use that holiday, and all as a personal tribute for some slight service once rendered him. It is just such deeds as that which prove one's regard and friendship, and his thorough work shows his heart was in it. Thanks.

Fitzgerald-Streiber.
 Miss Minnie Louise Streiber was married to Archer B. Fitzgerald, both of this city, Wednesday evening, November 21, in the United Evangelical Church by Rev. A. Haefele, the pastor. The church was filled, including the lecture room. It was neatly decorated with palms and chrysanthemums by Fitz Bahr, of this city.
 In the auditorium and vestibule Messrs. A. G. McPherson and Arthur N. J. Bevilard had very effectively hung thirty eight incandescent lamps, as well as a cluster of half a dozen in the family dining room, for all of which Mr. Mercereau furnished the light, Miss Streiber having been for some three years the bookkeeper and cashier of the Electric Light Co.
 The three front rows of seats in the church around the entire semicircle were reserved for the family friends of the bride and groom. Promptly at 8 o'clock the bridal party appeared, Mr. Fred C. Noerlen as best man, Miss Allie, sister of the bride, maid of honor, Dr. Seth Roberts and Miss Mabel Darche, of Chicago, as attendants. The bride appeared on her father's arm, with beautiful little Nancy McPherson as flower girl. The bride and Miss Darche were gowned in white and looked very beautiful, indeed. Miss Allie Streiber wore yellow. Pastor Haefele's service was very appropriate; it seemed peculiarly so that evening, and very impressive also. The ring was used, and without confusion. Mrs. Fred C. Noerlen presided very acceptably at the organ. Messrs. Arthur Evans, Frank McCaffrey, Arthur Bevilard and Orville St. Peter were the ushers.
 Immediately after the ceremony the party and some seventy-five invited guests went to the Streiber residence, on Second street, for a reception until the departure of the 10:57 train for Chicago. Refreshments were served in the brilliantly lighted diningroom. There was the usual shower of rice, and a dozen or more of the young people accompanied them as far as Ravinia, leaving rice and other evidences of their regard for the bridal pair.
 Mrs. Fitzgerald had hosts of friends, and they all sent presents of silverware, etc., gold coin from those at a distance, greenbacks and checks from others, and from life-long friends two superior outfits of dining table linen.
 The groom is well known as the engineer of the Light Co., and both groom and bride are held in the highest esteem by all connected with that company. They took a short trip to Milwaukee.
 Madam Hadlock wishes to announce that she will be at Mrs. Bohl's store every Tuesday and Thursday morning, for fittings and orders for Tailor-made and Reception Gowns.
 Fine watches and clocks repaired at Schneider & Cookes. All work warranted for one year.

Sand Filters.
 Not long ago we had the good fortune to meet a thorough engineer of education and experience who had traveled extensively through Europe. When in the city council the writer opposed the sand filter scheme in accordance with the best light he had at that time. He has, therefore, naturally been on the alert ever since for evidence to prove he was either right or wrong: if right, to enjoy the satisfaction of it, or if wrong to get right as soon as possible. It was, therefore, not a little satisfactory to hear the gentleman mentioned above condemn the whole sand filter business. He stated that both in England and on the continent it is generally admitted to be a failure. And, furthermore, it would prove more signally a failure here than it had proved there, as an exposure to sunlight is an absolute essential to its success, and in this climate it would have to be roofed over.
A Social Loss.
 Among the recent transfers of realty we notice with regret the sale of the beautiful Prussing place and the adjacent lots up on the Sheridan Road north, and occupied for several years past by the Chapman family. The sale includes the large lot 1, where the house stands, with a frontage of 304 feet on the Sheridan Road, and the lots south, 2, 3 and 4, comprising the easterly half of block 15, besides the portion of lot 7 where the barn and poultry house are situated. The entire frontage on the Sheridan Road is 904 feet.
 The sale is to J. Forbes, and the price quoted in the transfer is $33,000. It has proved a good investment for Mr. Prussing, but the sudden death of his wife and consequent grief and disappointment induced him to sell, and we are sorry to have him leave up permanently.
All Right.
 Some time in August we called attention to the weeds growing in the Thompson lot, west of Dr. Bergen's. Someone sent Baird & Warner, Mr. Thompson's agents, a copy of the paper and they, gentlemen that they are, at once ordered the weeds cleaned off and wrote us a pleasant note, which was accidentally mislaid. They thanked us for calling attention to the matter, and said they and Mr. Thompson were anxious to do all they could, not only for their own property, but for the city of Highland Park.
 That is the kind of non-resident property owners we like, and we like, and we shall at all times be glad to co-operate with Mr. Thompson and Messrs. Baird & Warner to promote their own and the city's interests.
Thanksgiving.
 Public services will be held in the Presbyterian church Thanksgiving morning at 9 o'clock. Don't fail to attend and learn a lesson of gratitude.
Work for the Winter.
 A plan is being developed by some public spirited persons in this county who believe in "intellectual" prosperity as well as the "full dinner pail" prosperity, to start literary societies in different communities of the county to be kept up through the winter. These societies are to have a common bond of interest and management.
 Suppose for instance that six such societies are organized in as many different places. Let there be a central committee consisting of one member or more from each society or organization who shall block out the work in outline so that the same or similar topics may be studied, discussed, investigated or written about in each of the clubs. Then let the members of the different clubs assess themselves 15 or 20 cents each, the amount to be invested in a circulating library. The library to be managed on the following plan. It shall be divided up into as many sections as there are clubs. Suppose then a certain set of topics are assigned to club A, and a half dozen or more books selected bearing on or treating of these subjects be shipped to said club A, to be kept two weeks while the members are reading up in preparation for their meeting. Then let section A of library be shipped to club B, and the same or similar set of topics be assigned to that club while a different set of topics be assigned to club A, and section B of library sent them, thus continuing the circle, the season to end up with a general meeting of the members and a general debate or exercise which shall be carried on by delegates from all the clubs selected by the members of the several clubs.
 We have broached this subject to several thinking men and women and it has met with general approval. We will be glad to hear from our subscribers and correspondents their views of the matter.
Decalcomanias.
 Perhaps some of our people don't know that the Scientific Manufacturing Co. are actually at work in the Gray Electric Co.'s building at Idlewild. But they are. They have quite a large force of men and half a dozen presses at work, and are installing more machinery and men all the time. A small sample of their work can be seen on George B. Cumming's door to his drug store. It is a notice to all Democrats, Mugwumps, Prohibitionists and others that "Mac" and "Teddy" were elected the 6th. Look at it and you will then know what "decalcomanias" are. More anon.
Poetry.
 Our esteemed contemporary, the Times-Herald, keeps a poet all its own, and this is a sample of his muse:
 "Illinois, serene and lovely,
 Stains that now besmirch thy banner
 Soon will disappear; there's only Fifty-two days more of Tanner."
