

HIGHWOOD.

Dr. G. W. Turner is in Louisville, Ky., buying horses this week. P. C. Conley now has the new gas burning and reports it successful. Mrs. H. S. Bell expects to leave soon for a months visit with friends in Dayton Ohio. Chaplain E. J. Vattman has been confined to his house, the past week, with a severe cold. Capt. Bradley of Gen. Otis' staff, spent Tuesday calling on brother officers at the post. Lieut. Scherer and Dr. Turner left for Stevens Point, Wis., Wednesday, to be gone several days. Miss Helen Bubbs has returned to the post after an absence of several weeks spent in the South. Hon. W. F. Hogan, on Tuesday, accidentally fell, fracturing his arm badly and is unable to be out. Lieut. Beauchamp of the 1st Infantry, brought in a detachment of 50 recruits from St. Louis, Mo., last Wednesday. The tailor shop of H. D. Lee was broken into on Thursday night and nearly every thing taken, amounting to over $100. No clue to the robbers. Owing to the scarcity of room the Sheridan post office is moved to the colonels office and his office will be in quarters number three, first loop. The Highwood school bazar will be held at the city hall tonight for the purpose of buying an organ and books. We wish the ladies success in their scheme. Recruits of the first battery of the 29th Infantry are pouring in rapidly and will be equipped soon. On account of the barracks being filled with 5th Infantry and Artillery there will be only one battallion at a time recruited.

Wedding Anniversaries.

It was a happy crowd that gathered at the Evangelical parsonage last Monday evening in honor of the twenty-first wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Haeefe, and it was, as their friends and parishioners intended, a complete surprise to this worthy couple. Every room was well filled with guests. A short program had been arranged. S. P. Brand in a few chosen words presented Rev. and Mrs. Haeefe with a purse of dollars equaling the number of years of their married life, to which they both replied in fitting terms, feelingly expressing their appreciation of the esteem in which they are held by their friends. Following this were recitations by the misses Elsie Brand and Martha Walker, and a solo by Mrs. Fitzgerald, also a duet was played on the autograph by Clara Gruel and Maude Welsh. The Rev. S. F. Entorf who was present was called upon and made a brief speech, in which he paid a loving tribute to Rev. and Mrs. Haeefe's untiring energy and devotion to the grand work God has given them to do in this their present field of labor. Mr. Entorf closed his remarks by wishing them many more such anniversaries. Mr. and Mrs. Tillman, whose nineteenth wedding anniversary occurred on the same day were present, making the occasion of double interest. Bountiful refreshments were served. The guests were in the best of humor and the remainder of the evening was spent in singing and congratulations.

Firm as Adam.

It was before the fall. "Adam," said our first mother in a serious tone, "we are certainly living beyond our means." "That's exactly my opinion, little woman," said the father of his kind. "And what do you propose to do about it?" "We must economize," said the universal mother. "Yes," said Adam, "we must, and I am ready to second anything you suggest. But, wait. There is one item of expenditure that positively must be excepted from the pruning shears." "And what is that?" "I will not," said Adam with a strong emphasis, "I will not have our laundry bills cut down!" Professional Nurse, with engagement in Highland Park or vicinity. Address, P. O. Box 465. Worth Thinking About.

It is not an uncommon thing to meet men, even young men, who are hale, hearty, and strong, and yet complaining that it is "so hard to rise;" "there are so many obstacles in the way;" "there is so much competition;" "they have not time to get an education," or perhaps "they did not have the opportunity, and now they are unable to get ahead;" "it takes all they can earn to meet the demands of each month and each year." It might be very well for such to carefully note the following letter from Harvard University to Booker T. Washington, the colored gentleman who is making himself so distinguished at the present time, and also what Mr. Washington himself says about it in "The Outlook."

Harvard University, Cambridge, May 23, 1896. President Booker T. Washington: My Dear Sir—Harvard University desires to confer on you at the approach-

Sanders Theater, where the Commencement exercises were to be held and the degrees conferred. Among others invited to be present for the purpose of receiving a degree at this time were General Nelson A Miles, Dr. Bell, the inventor of the Bell telephone, Bishop Vincent, and the Rev. Minot J. Savage. We were placed in line immediately behind the President and the Board of Overseers, and directly afterward the Governor of Massachusetts, escorted by the Lancers, arrived and took his place in the line of march by the side of President Eliot. In the line there were also various other officers and professors, clad in cap and gown. In this order we marched to Sanders Theater, where, after the usual Commencement exercises, came the conferring of the honorary degrees.

Reaction.

The Westminster, Toronto, finds the temperance situation in Canada to be unsatisfactory: "The reaction which followed the vigorous and strenuous Scott Act and Plebiscite campaigns has given the liquor men their needed opportunity together themselves together for renewed attacks along unexpected lines. As a result, during the past two or three years, there has been a marked increase in the drink habit, especially among young men in cities and towns, and among women in certain circles of society." The liquor interest is united and aggressive, while the temperance sentiment is divided and jarring; as it is among ourselves. But the tendency on this side the line is to seek a new method.

Already a bill has been introduced in the Illinois legislature extending home rule to more limited districts. This is a basis on which all can unite, because it contravenes nothing but the saloon. What we need as preliminary is legislation upon which we can enforce the will of people in limited areas against the dram-shop nuisance—solid impregnable fortresses dotting the land all over, and from these extending the area. The freezing lake begins with innumerable small crystals every where, which extend till the whole surface becomes solid ice.
