THE SHERIDAN ROAD NEWS-LETTER.

WM. S. LASHER.

While most people here knew he was quite ill, no one seemed to think he was near the end of his earthly career, when all heard Saturday that he had passed away that morning, February 8, a little after 9 o'clock. He had suffered from a heart difficulty for several years and gave up going to his Chicago business some months ago. But of late he had appeared better and his family and friends, as we all do in similar circumstances, were very hopeful of his recovery.

But, while he was sitting in his easy chair, after his morning meal, Mrs. Lasher noticed a slight change and went to him and while standing by his chair his physical life passed out as gently as a child falling into a sleep.
There was no struggle, no pain, in fact he had been wholly free from the physical suffering incident to his sickness, for a long time, which is a great source of comfort to his family.

Mr. Lasher was born in Walworth, Wayne county, New York, some five and twenty miles east of Rochester, in 1842. He received a thorough classic education at Charlotteville, N. Y., a famous school of high grade fifty years ago, and began teaching when quite a young man, and taught in Germantown, and other localities east, then in Jakesville, Wis., till he came here as the head of our grade school in 1874. After three years' experience he was induced to leave the schoolroom and enter business life in Chicago, in which he was exceedingly successful.

As a teacher he was eminently successful. Methodical, almost to a fault, thorough in all his work, his pupils bore the impress of his teaching in their subsequent lives.

He married Miss Leta Ramsdell in 1872, a year or two before coming here, so that all their married life has been passed in this city. Of their three children the eldest daughter, Miss Lucile, a beautiful and talented young lady, died at the age of 16, February 10, 1891, eleven years almost to a day, before the father passed away. She was a perfect picture of health and died after a very few hours illness. It was a blow from which he never recovered, and one felt keenly by the entire community. The other two children, Grace Adele and young Ramsdell, eleven years old, with their mother, survive Mr.
Lasher. The one trait of his character which most deeply impressed one was his extreme fondness for his family and his home.
His heart and life seemed centered in their highest good.

The funeral was held Tuesday noon at his late residence, and was conducted by the Christian Science society, with which he has been identified during the last year, and from whom he had received great personal benefit.
Mrs. Dana Sweetland, of this city, read appropriate selections from the scriptures, including the twenty-third psalm, and also from Mrs. Eddy's book, "Science and Health." Miss Alta Miller, of Evanston, sang two hymns, "Adide With Me," and "O'er Waiting Harpstrings of the Mind." The interment was in the family lot at Lake Forest.
