We will speak out, we will be heard,
Though all earth's temples crack.
We will not bate a single breath,
Nor take a single sentence back.

Keep off the sidewalks with your wheels, or Judge Morgan will say, in his terse, laconic way, "Three dollars and costs."

We beg leave to call Congressman Foss' attention to the fact that we have not received our assignment of editorial garden seeds.

Uncle Sam is trying to investigate the big meat trust. There place who will not trust some folks for meat.

The war department, by order of the president, has called General Funston down for wagging his tongue too freely about the situation in the Philippines.

A 16-inch gun has been made at the Watervliet (N. Y.) arsenal which will throw a 3,000-pound projectile a distance of twenty-one miles and uses 1,000 pounds of powder at each discharge. It will be mounted on a disappearing carriage at Fort Hamilton, in New York harbor.

It now appears that the Indiana school principal accused of kissing one of his pretty female pupils was not guilty of the offense charged. He only tickled her under the chin. However, the tickling of a pretty girl under the chin may sometimes be rather ticklish business, particularly if the man who does the tickling has a wife and she finds out about it, as appears to have been the case in the incident in question.

THE LIBERTYVILLE CONVENTION.

No more hotly contested convention has been held in Lake county for many a year than the republicans had last Saturday at the "heart of the county" for the nomination of a candidate for the legislature. Messrs. G. R. Lyon and A. K. Stearns, both of Waukegan; T. A. Mason, of Rivion; and Palmer A. Montgomery, of this city, were in the field, and on the seventh ballot Mr. Lyon was nominated, the vote standing: Lyon, 98; Montgomery, 43; Mason, 28; Stearns, 24. In justice to Mr. Stearns it should be said that on some of the ballots he had 66 votes.

Perhaps the citizens of the county will sometime learn to mass their forces against Waukegan, if they want anything beyond what Waukegan is willing to yield—the crumbs from the political table. There are a lot of men all about the county whose banking after some office outweighs all other considerations, and hence they follow the Waukegan band wagon, irrespective of whom it carries or whither it is going. They are generally prominent and loud at the conventions, and run the primaries as far as they can, and always

Had Messrs. Stearns—and Mr. Stearns represents the county much more than he does Waukegan—Montgomery and Mason, or even the two former, worked together, as we think they should, we believe they could have decided as to the winning candidate. That should have been done on the fifth or sixth ballot, at the latest, as soon as it became evident that Mr. Stearns' supporters saw he could not be nominated, and were making other alliances. We have seen too many fatal delays at just that point; things must be taken at the turn of the tide, or all is lost. They might not have won, even then, but the defeat would not have been as disastrous as it was.

Lake county now stands committed to the Yates-Hopkins-Rowe combination, which we believe the majority of Lake county republicans thoroughly abominate. It is painful to us that the grand old republicans of Illinois have fallen so low. Mr. Hopkins may be a man of ability and personal integrity, but he can never recover from the smutch of this alliance—some stains won't wash out. And the writer of this article will not support such a ticket; he has not yet lost all self respect.

Every person in the world has an influence over somebody, and the greater we make ourselves the greater we make some one else.

If women would always wear that happy expression they do when they are having their photographs taken they would all be angels on earth.

When a woman sews a button on her husband's pants she shows more real affection than the one who talks for an hour about the love she feels for him.

Most of the fires now-a-days are caused by friction. That is by rubbing a three thousand-dollar policy on a two thousand-dollar building.

The Serpent that beguiled Eve in the garden of Eden is the identical old snake that is today tempting many of her daughters to take suppers after the theater.

Editors, and most especially the married ones, sling a great deal of mud at the women, but we have never known one yet who was cannibal enough to roast anybody but her husband.

We would be very much pleased to have friends of the NEWS-LETTER call up telephone 92 or 773 with any news or items of interest. If you know of anything that has happened or is to happen, tell us.
