CAUTION!

This is not a gentle word—but when you think how liable you are not to purchase for 75c the only reliable remedy universally known and a remedy that has had the largest sale of any medicine in the world since 1868 for the cure and treatment of Consumption and Throat and Lung troubles without losing its great popularity all these years, you will be thankful we called your attention to Boschee's German Syrup. There are so many ordinary cough remedies made by druggists and others that are cheap and good for light colds perhaps, but for severe Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, and especially Consumption, where there is difficult expectoration and coughing during the nights and mornings, there is nothing like German Syrup. Sold by all druggists in the civilized world.

ADIRONDACK LUMBERING.

Interesting Computations Regarding the Annual Timber Cut of Northern New York.

Now that the season of "log driving" is at its height throughout the Adirondack region, it may be an interesting fact to know, says the Plattsburg News, that the annual harvest of timber in the great forests of northern New York would fill a river 170 miles long from end to end and bank to bank. Thirty million feet, log measure, will fill a river ten miles of ber of all kinds is about half a billion feet. These forests were for the most part stripped of their best pine 40 years ago, when the lumbermen cut nothing else. In those days the small demand for spruce was supplied by Maine. Hemlock was left standing because it would not float unless peeled, and as all the tanneries were situated near the border of the wilderness, it was too far to haul the bark. The Adirondack hemlock is inferior, in size and quality, to that found in Pennsylvania, and owing to the unfavorable freight rates of that region, hemlock could not be handled with profit. Hemlock is now being used in the pulp mills, and this has resulted in a larger cutting and an increased price.

YANKEE-LIKE.

Farmer Showed Native Shrewdness by Way He Sold Eggs—When Eleven is a Dozen.

Clerk Newton, of the Parker house, is telling a good story at his own expense, says the Boston Record.
When a small boy on the farm his folks often sent him to the neighbors to buy a dozen eggs when their hens failed to lay enough.

ways held each egg before a lighted candle and examined it carefully. In his innocence of Yankee shrewdness, Newton supposed that this was prompted more by honesty and intention to detect whether the eggs were bad or not.

One day, however, when he counted his eggs, according to custom, there were only 11 in the basket.

With a determination not to be cheated, the lad trudged proudly back to the house, and quickly made known his discovery.

"Oh," said the old farmer, "that's all right, my boy; one of them has a double yolk."

No Substitute for Sleep.

A London paper says that the health of people in fashionable society is being dangerously threatened by a new drug which is popularly regarded as a substitute for sleep. Very discreetly it declines to name this dangerous substance. When tea was first introduced into Europe it was commended for the same virtues, and it was believed that it would no longer be necessary to waste seven or eight hours in sleep. But there is no reason to suppose that chemists will ever be able to devise any substitute for sleep which will not in the long run bring nervous breakdowns.

Avenue des Champs Elysees.

Paris' avenue des Champs Elysees, which, beyond the Porte Maillot, is called the Avenue de la Grande Armee, is to be extended beyond the Monument de la Defense at Courbevoie, into the heart of the forest of St. Germain. It will then be 13 miles long and 130 feet wide the whole way.

MR. RUTTER'S DEATH.

Mr. David Rutter, the well known wholesale coal dealer, died at his home in this city last week.

The family came out here a year ago, hoping a residence in this beautiful suburb would be beneficial to his health. He passed the season very pleasantly and with apparent profit. Last autumn he went to Asheville, N. C., for the winter. When he returned to the Park a few weeks ago it was apparent to all that the end was near. The fatal disease was slow consumption, of slow and imperceptible progress at the first, but relentless in its grip.

Mr. Rutter was born in Philadelphia in 1846. The family came west soon after and he secured his education in the schools of Chicago. In 1870 he became a clerk for Hinsdale & Co., wholesale grocers on South Water street, and the next year connected himself with the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. During that year he married Miss Mary McMurtree, of Newton, N. J. In 1872, the year after the great fire, he went into business for himself, forming the firm of David Rutter & Co., with offices at 98 Dearborn street. As the years passed he in Chicago. It was incorporated a little over a year ago and will continue without interruption.

He leaves a widow and three sons—Lynn R., a young attorney of fine ability and promise, who has been associated with his father in the business several years; William M., who is with Tracy & Co., bankers, on La Salle street; and Rhea B., who is studying law.

The funeral was Monday afternoon at his late residence on Laurel street, conducted by Rector P. C. Wolcott, of Trinity church, and the interment in Graceland.

Coming here as he did, practically an invalid, he could mingle but little with our people, but so far as he was known he was universally liked and highly esteemed as a pleasant and high-minded man. He leaves a reputation for honor and probity as a business man second to none, and in all his relations with his fellow men he was exemplary in every respect.
