IN THE WRONG HOUSE.

The residents on Park avenue were awakened last Friday at 1 o'clock in the morning by loud cries for help followed by the frequent report of a revolver. Thinking that burglars had broken into Mr. Budd's house and that some one was being foully dealt with, one of the neighbors at once telephoned over to Marshal Rudolph, who soon had two officers on the spot. Upon investigation it was discovered that the disturber of the peace who had occasioned such widespread alarm in the neighborhood was neither a bandit nor a robber, but a Swedish coachman in the employ of Mr. C. E. Wilcox. The man was returning home at that late hour considerably under the influence of liquor and had mistaken the house, and having failed to get in at the door was trying to effect an entrance through the porch window. While it was evident the man had no intention of house-breaking the officers locked him up for safe keeping until the following morning, when Mr. Wilcox secured his release.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.

Beginning Wednesday, October 29, and continuing through Friday, October 31, the village hall of Fort Sheridan will present a gala appearance and will be the scene of merriment and beauty. During the three days, from Wednesday to Friday inclusive, the Ladies' Auxiliary will hold their annual bazaar and chrysanthemum show and everything points to a very pleasant and successful issue. Attractive articles, both useful and ornamental, will be displayed in the booths, a gypsy fortune teller will reveal the future; there will be candy booths and refreshment booths, in fact, all kinds of interesting diversions and distractions. Friday being Hallow'en, a special program with characteristic features has been arranged and will include all sorts of Hallow'en games and tricks. Three judges have been appointed to decide upon the flowers and to award the prizes. Judging from the number of beautiful specimens already entered the display of chrysanthemums promises to be most gorgeous and interesting.

Several years ago, before the Spanish war, I engaged James Larkins, our historic cordwainer, to buy a pair of lasts on which to make me a pair of winter boots such as a man of my years, social position and good sense would want—a pair I could walk the streets or stand at my desk all day in without pain and weariness to my feet. A few weeks ago he told me he had picked up the lasts out of some job lot—a regular Green Mountain pair of lasts—and I told him to go ahead and make the boots according to the bargain of five years ago, and he has done it. The shoes are high cut, eight inches full, leather lined, double soled, of best oak tanned tops, broad, not heels, and such broad toes I am more than delighted, and they fit like gloves, and no more corns and pesky bunions. But you ought to see their stock of lasts of all possible shapes for afflicted feet. Messrs. Larkins & Kline make a specialty of fitting irregular-shaped feet, and they do it to perfection, as in my case, and they have both had years of experience in just this kind of work.

The delega'es to the State Federation of Woman's clubs returned from Champaign, Ill, where the convention was held, with glowing accounts of a very interesting and profitable time. That the charming president of the Highland Park Woman's club is equally appreciated abroad as well as at home was evidenced in Mrs. Laura D. Fessenden having been elected vice-president of this entire district.

INGLESIDE.

A. P. Dunn left Friday for a brief pleasure trip in Canada.

Mrs. E. H. Vivian has been confined to her bed all week with a severe cold.

Miss Robbins, of Waukegan, was the guest of Edmund Desjardines at dinner at the Ingleside Sunday.

Mr. W. P. Butler and sons, E. C. and J. P. Butler, of Bloomington, Ill, spent Saturday at the Ingleside.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Bannister, accompanied by their son, Harold, spent Sunday with friends in Chicago.

F. R. Shepherd brought out an automobile party from the city Wednesday and entertained at dinner at the Ingleside.

E. H. Vivian entertained Thomas L. Horne, the well known photographer at Fort Sheridan, at dinner at the Ingleside Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Williams, of Chicago, brought out a party of five friends from the city on their automobile, Sunday, to the Ingleside, where they were entertained at dinner.

Among the guests of the past week at the Ingleside were Mr and Mrs. W. H. Dyson, of Evanston, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Cheney Maulkan and Mr. Fitzhugh Taylor, of Chicago.

The Sunday dinners are becoming more and more a popular feature of the Ingleside, both with automobiling parties, pleasure seekers, and townspeople. Sunday, October 19, marked the banner day in the history of the present management of the hotel, when a greater number of guests sat down to dinner than on any other previous day.

Next Sunday evening Pastor Seldon will preach the third of the series of sermons on Heaven, namely, "Knowledge and Occupation in Heaven."

The Swede service last Sunday afternoon was a good success. Each Sunday it will be held at the same place, the Baptist church, and the meeting will begin at 3:30 p. m., instead of 3 o'clock as formerly announced. Persons of any or no denomination who are interested in such a service are invited.

She's a radiant, witching, wondrous gem, that beautiful blushing wife of mine. She is an angel on earth, so you can be, only take Rocky Mountain Tea. George B. Cummings. 1-cg
