Isaac Goldberg is opening a clothing and gents' furnishing goods store in the east store room formerly used as a general merchandise department. Mr. Goldberg promises the people a strictly cash store and if he follows the pace set by his sons, in their grocery and market next door, he will have all the custom that has gone to Chicago and Waukegan heretofore. The people are wide awake to the advantage of a spot cash place to purchase furnishing goods as well as groceries and if they find a store that advertises to sell for cash and lives up to what is advertised, they will buy at home in preference to going elsewhere. But no sane person who has an ounce of good sense and a dollar to spend, is going to buy goods that have laid on the shelf for years, because the store keeper did not have gumption enough to advertise that he had such goods for sale. It is far preferable to go to Chicago to buy goods, than to take some old trash that is full of microbes caused by years of exposure on shelves, because the merchant thinks it don't pay to advertise. The merchant who don't advertise is generally the one who says, "it don't pay me to advertise because I have to trust anyhow, and if I offer them at a reasonable price, I will probably have to wait a year or more for some of my money." Is this the place you like to buy at?

 No, it is much better to purchase your goods where the stock is disposed of and restocked as often as possible and this can only be done when the merchant uses up-to-date methods to dispose of his stock. If Mr. Goldberg sticks to his cash business and advertises his success is assured.

Waukegan papers seem to have it "in" for the C. & M. electric railway in a lengthy editorial. The Gazette roasts the company for running the cars "fast" in the north end, this is the first time we ever heard of a street car company operating its cars with "speed," and should consider this performance worthy of commendation. The evident desire of the C. & M. electric railway to increase its speed along the line is a great improvement and the patrons generally indorse any move that will lessen the time between points.

Is it not time some thing was done in reference to the awful condition of the Central avenue crossing of the Northwestern railroad. The citizens can expect no improvement until there is some fatality as was the case Monday at Highwood. A subscription might be taken up and money raised to buy a few planks for this hogish corporation. This crossing has been in this shape for about two years and with the exception of a little patching up has received no attention whatever.

Some miserable rascals have been lying in wait this past week for girls out on the streets in the evening.
 One young woman was followed by the fellow early in the week and Thursday evening, two together were threatened by him again. And this right here the central part of town and not late at night. The fellows want to be caught and dealt with to the full extent of the law.

Waukegan's Democratic paper seems to be having a hard "row to hoe" to keep peace with its former republican patrons and make friends with the democrats, the republicans are deserting and democrats take the sincerity of the editor and grand chief with a "grain of salt," and are still hustling for a modern paper to take up their interests.

DEATH OF MRS. WINCHESTER.

Elizabeth Gilman Calkins was born in Waterbury, Vt., August 16, 1814, and died in Highland Park, Ill., May 20, 1903, aged 88 years and 9 months.

Her father was pastor of the Congregational church in Waterbury at the time of her birth, but subsequently removed to Madison, Lake county, Ohio, where she formed the acquaintance of Philander Winchester to whom she was married in Cleveland April 7, 1839. They located in Painesville where Mr. Winchester established the "Telegraph" which later became the Cleveland Leader.

Mrs. Winchester came here to live with her children in 1882, four years after her husband's death, where she has passed a most serene and lovely old age. She was a woman of rare gifts, social and moral, and all who came in contact with her felt their power and sweetness. Her first absorbing thought was for others, hence all loved her to the end. She leaves children as follows: Mrs. Alta W. Fitch, Mrs. W. O. Hipwell, Charles J., of New York, Arthur H., of West Virginia, Mrs. Mary Carver Mrs. Frances W. Holmes, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Bannard, of Seattle, and Phillip, of Massilon, Ohio.

The funeral was at the home of Mr. Hipwell, where she died, Friday afternoon, conducted by Revs. A. A.
 Pfanstiehl and P. C. Wolcott. Mr. and Mrs. Hipwell, Mrs. Carver and Ranney Winchester accompanied the remains that evening to Madison, Ohio, where they will be buried beside those of her husband. The funeral there will be held in the Congregational church of which the fathers of both Mr. and Mrs. Winchester were successively pastors.
 Her death was the result of a fall and fracture of one of her hips a few days ago.

Don't forget that the NEWS-LETTER job department is better equipped than ever before to do all kinds of printing, from a lady's calling card to a three-sheet poster.
