THE EXCURSION.

The first excursion of the season was last Saturday to Lake Geneva over the Northwestern. Feeling the need of a genuine old fashioned outing, for change of air, climate and scenery, we took our large family, and went. The day was perfect, the trip both ways a perpetual joy. We gazed with wonder and delight on the scenery as all approached Waukegan, and took in the famous new library building; also the magnitude of neatness and promise Zion City; skirted lovely Kenosha, and admired the sturdy women near Genoa Junction, who were out hoeing potatoes in their gardens.

Williams Bay, Lake Geneva, was reached at 10:30, after a stroll about the Bay shore we, meandered off through the woods past W. J. Chalmers charming 80-acre summer home on the lake shore, through Camp Colly, picked up pebbles on the beach, explored the Y. M. C. A. camp, climbed the hill to the Yerkes observatory with its 20 ton telescope, the revolving tower, adjustable floor, etc. After a bountiful lunch seasoned with a glass of Huber's beer, at 5:50 we pulled out for home and at 8 o'clock our weary feet trod the sacred soil of Highland Park. And all that day's glorious outing for $1.25 each.

There was perfect order, no boisterous conduct, everything was as near perfect as possible from start to finish. L. B. H.

HIGHWOOD.

The first fire alarm to which our new department has had an opportunity to respond, was sounded about noon last Monday, the cause being a small blaze in the rear portion of Horne's photograph gallery, which is located in the extreme north portion of the city. Two wagons passing the fire station at the time were pressed into service and smashed all records (also one hose carriage) in their fast run to the fire, which fortunately, was under control when they arrived, due to the prompt and efficient services of musician Lang, of Company L, 20th Infantry, who was first to discover the fire. Mr. Horne was at lunch when the fire started and is unable to account for its origin. The damage to building and contents was small. No insurance.
