

SHERIDAN ROAD NEWS LETTER

A Newspaper Devoted to the Interests of the Cities, Towns and Villages Along the North Shore

VOL. XIV.

HIGHLAND PARK, ILL., SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1903.

NO. 7.

A lineman for the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric road, was killed by a shock at Kenilworth Thursday.

Dr. H. B. Roberts, who recently located here will reside on Linden avenue, first house north of Central avenue.

The family of Charles S. Diehl, who spent the winter in the Babcock house on Prospect avenue left Monday, for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Chapman and their sons have taken rooms and board at Judge Hibbard's for the balance of the season.

Dr. John R. LeFever, an old time friend and business associate is visiting at the home of Samuel Levin on First street, this week. Dr. LeFever is from Penyan, N. Y.

An $18,000 robbery occurred on a Chicago & Northwestern train between Chicago and Milwaukee last Thursday morning. The victim was Mrs. F. F. Adams, of the latter city.

Mrs. Arthur P. Dunn, of southern California, reached this city Monday evening for a few weeks stay and is making her home with Miss Barlow at Miss LaBar's on St. John's avenue.

Some dozen or more of Waukegan's slow pay and money cases were in Judge Hibbard's court Tuesday afternoon, and a dozen more are to follow next week, unless they pay up.

A box of roses were received this week from Mrs. S. J. Dorsey, the manager's mother, and were grown at the homestead in eastern Pennsylvania. They were in an excellent state of preservation.

Judge Elisha Morgan, of our municipal court went this week to the family summer home on Gran Lake in Wisconsin. He requested Judge Hibbard to keep up the judicial end of the city government while he is gone.

Harry Sweetman, who lived by himself in Highwood was found dead in his room Sunday. The gas was turned on, evidently blown out by him on retiring Saturday night. Perhaps some of the "cordial" for which his town is noted helped the matter along.

Arthur E. Evans, our mayor's oldest son, has been working for less than three months for the Edison Electric Company in Chicago and has had his salary raised twice during that time voluntarily by the company, which shows that they think of "Art" as a practical and reliable electrician.

Some of the older inhabitants remember when an enterprising company laid six inch iron pipes through this city to Waukesha, for the World's Fair and ended by tapping Loon lake near Antioch. A gang of Italians are digging up the pipe this week down the Green Bay road, as Loon Lake has "gin out."

Local physicians have a large supply of glass eyes, porcelain noses and ears, cork arms, legs, hands and other parts of the human frame to meet all the emergencies of the glorious fourth. So go in boys for a good time, blow off your hands or arms and put out your eyes—only don't kill yourself—the doctors can't raise the dead.

One of the busiest men in town, George F. Bock, of the widely known west side grocery establishment took time Monday evening, June 29, to go over to Shermerville, and be married to Miss Louise Funke, of that young city. The ceremony was performed at the bride's home, and now Mr. and Mrs. Bock are established at housekeeping in this city.

Carl Pfanstiehl, who is a prominent member of the family which occupies the Presbyterian manse, had his picture in a recent issue of the Chicago Post. For a lad still in school he has made a notable record as an electrician. He is evidently endowed with rare gifts in that line and will yet be heard from in the Electrical world. If the bend of the twig forestalls the angle of the tree it is easy to forecast Carl's angle.

The friends of Rev. S. A. Gould, a former pastor of the Baptist church in this city, will be pleased to know that his new friends in Los Angeles, Cal., where he is preaching gave him and his accomplished wife, a fine surprise June 14th, the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage in Racine in 1888, just before their departure for missionary work in China. The Los Angeles people did themselves proud in celebrating the occasion.

Improvement is the order of the day at the neat little shoe store of John P. Kline on Central avenue. Since Mr. Kline has taken the business himself, he has done considerable advertising, this has had its returns, as his largely increased business will show. Hence he has been compelled to overhaul the interior of the store and make more room for a large quantity of stock, which has been ordered, in other words, John does not believe in the antiquated style of doing business and will not allow the people to go elsewhere to find a store, which advertises, to buy modern goods when he has the goods and can meet any and all prices.

NOTICE.

Bids will be received by the president of the library board for the purchase of lot on Sheridan Road on which the library stands, including the library building. For particulars, address W. O. Hipwell, president Highland Park public library.

FRANK WARREN EVERETT.

Frank Warren Everett was born at Chicago, November 1, 1875; he died of tuberculosis at North Creek, N. Y., June 28, 1903, and was buried July 1, from the home of his father, Mr. Francis D. Everett of this city.

Mr. Everett grew to manhood at the family home in Highland Park, and the universal expressions of regard from our citizens attest that in childhood, in youth, and in the early manhood in which he was cut off, his character was of unusual purity and dignity.

He was a member of the class of '97 of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where, after completing the regular course in electrical engineering, he took a post graduate course. He was a member of the Phi Beta Epsilon fraternity.

Mr. Everett was married November 8, 1900 to Miss Julia P. Kimball, of Davenport, Iowa.

His brief business career took him to the Union Iron Works, of San Francisco and later to Cuba, where, representing Messrs. Wendell and McDuffie of New York, he installed the fire alarm system and the police patrol telephone system of the city of Havana.

He leaves a wife and one son.
