Mrs. Ida Sporlein, of Chicago is a guest of Mrs. Jno. Snyder this week.

Mrs. John S. Reesman has been very sick, but is gradually recovering.

Archer B. Fitzgerald and family spent part of his vacation in the Park.

Miss Ida Purchase, of Minneapolis, Minn., is visiting with Miss Joy Miller for a few weeks.

Flossie Guthrie of Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, is visiting with her aunt Mrs. Wm. Tillman.

Freddie Maechtle of Milwaukee spent several days with his parents C. F. Maechtle, on Laural avenue.

Chas. Strock has just finished a nice croquet ground on the property of Mr. Wycoff on St. Johns Place.

M. Bohl invites gentlemen to inspect his new line of gent's and boy's furnishings. Everything new and of the best quality.

The new parsonage is about completed and Rev. Finkbeiner is already transferring his extensive library in the new Bijou.

Fred C. Noerenberg is hurrying his cottage for completion before the snow flies. Chas. J. Streiber is doing the work.

Miss Louise Haungs has returned to her home in Chicago after spending a delightful two weeks with her sister, Mrs. John S. Reesman.

A Japanese young lady at the Moraine in native costume attracted much attention at the concert. She is a guest of one of the guests of the house.

The Electric Light Co. is putting in a new style burner on all the street lights, an installment of a general line of improvements contemplated in their system.

James McDonald went to Waukegan Wednesday to see if Libertyville had stolen the county seat, stolen from the heart of the county over fifty years ago.

The K. L. C. E. held a lawn social at the parsonage Thursday evening although the air was raw. Ice cream and cake disappeared in a remarkably swift manner.

Earl Purdy has four live alligators about a foot long and as large in body as your wrist. They are living in a fine Welsh tin tank and are free for the public to see.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Chapman, who are spending the summer in this city have gone up to Lake Geneva for the summer as guests of Mr and Mrs. John Mitchell.

The local list of autos is growing larger every week and most of the machines are becoming more and more civilized, so that life will be more endurable on the streets.

Fred P. Luther is expected home in a few days from New York with his grip full of locomotives, passenger coaches and freight cars, which after reconstruction he will sell to western roads.

Bear in mind the Lake county fair comes in about four weeks. Get your exhibits ready. The North Shore Electric road will have trains running in good shape from Lake Bluff before that time.

City attorney Smoot is in Utah studying the Mormon question on the spot and taking salt baths in Salt Lake. The mayor will call in a Justice of the peace if necessary to run the legal end of the city.

Many of our people have noted with sadness for some months the serious condition of S. M. Milliard's health. We are happy to say he is rapidly improving in a most satisfactory and promising manner.

Mrs. Prof Gray has had some of the dying oaks, which stood among the beautiful young maples and chestnuts on her lot, opposite Trinity church, cut out so as to give the choicer trees a better chance.

George H. Bowen has announced his preparation for taking orders for all kinds of electrical work and general supplies and solicits the patronage of the general public. He has his office in Purdy's hardware store.

Clarence C. Chapman has gone to Wayne for a day or two as guests of one of his Stock Exchange associates. While he is there he will look over the famous stables of Percheron horses of Mr. Dunham, the importer and breeder.

In the midst of all the scolding and bluster against autos, don't forget two things in their favor, they don't eat oats rainy days and Sundays, and they don't break their halters and run away because the flies are so troublesome.

How many of our good readers know that the Episcopal church has a fine musical service every Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock? There is a brief service, no sermon and then the musicale beginning about 8 o'clock for the balance of the hour.

Prof. Lomax of the Texas agricultural college spent part of Thursday and Friday in town as the guest of Judge Hibbard. He is taking a special summer course in the university of Chicago as scores of other Texans are doing this summer.

The assault and battery case in Judge Hibbard's court growing out of a post election row in a Highwood saloon came off Tuesday afternoon. It was about six to one, and half a dozen to the other only the other struck a few illegal blows and was fined $3.00, each man paying his own costs.

Don't forget the city council next Tuesday night and if you know of a piece of road, alley or street any where that is not macadamized let the committee know it. F. D. Everett is chairman. That is just what he and his associates are looking for. Help them out if you can.

One of the best books in our library is James Bryce's recent work, "Biographical Sketches," which begins with Disraeli and closes with Gladstone. Another set very similar are the two volumes of John Fiske's "Historical and Literary Essays." Don't read cheap stuff like Mary J. Holmes when you can have such books.

Highway experts say the quickest and most effective way to spoil a macadamized street is to let it go dry. The surface must be kept damp to hold the fine stone binder in place and keep the lower strata of coarse stone down in place also. Hence the necessity of watering down our macadamized streets.

William Forest Sampson, one of our enterprising young men, went to Chicago Tuesday last week and was married to one of the numerous school ma'ams of that city, Miss Lucretia Kister at her home. The service was performed in the evening by Rev. W. Baekus and the happy pair left by boat for a brief vacation camping out over in Michigan. Of course the usual supply of rice was on hand for use, but Mr. and Mrs. Sampson eluded their pursuers by a very shrewd foil on their part.
