

Additional Locals

William Noerenberg beat the town in his garden this year. He raised a 50 pound pumpkin and a 65 pound Hubbard squash, both very fine vegetables.

Mr. W. B. White picked the second crop of strawberries from his vines yesterday. His raspberries have bloomed twice and the roses are blooming for the third time this year.

Chairman Frank D. Everett rode all around town for a piece of sidewalk to have rebuilt and finally found it in front of G. B. Cumming's, and now the cement is going down.

There is a fine corner available for a library building at the northwest corner of Central avenue and First street, which would be more central to the population than Hazel Park.

Prof. Jessie Smith, our public school superintendent, was on the sick list last Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Smith is a hustler and the school work was very heavy the beginning of the year.

Alderman Warren's neat little cottage on West Central avenue, now occupied by Prof. Smith, superintendent of the public school, has a new coat of paint, which adds greatly to its appearance.

The Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railroad Co., have purchased a large tract of land east of the railroad track, opposite the Sheldon farm. It is reported to be for the purpose of erecting a theatre there.

Irving Evans, who formerly resided here and is now at Culver Military School, Ind., writes that their team defeated the visiting team last Saturday. The victory was as great as our Northwestern Military Academy.

Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. Herman M. Biebel and Miss Alice L. Morris, who formerly resided here, on Saturday Oct. 3, at Lake Forest, Ill. At home after Nov. 15, 1903, South Central Park avenue, Chicago.

The meeting held at Mrs. Gray's by the American Association last week Friday, was reported very interesting. The work of the association was presented and discussed. There was a good attendance. Light refreshments were served.

The Misses Doris and Mary Louise Russell gave a farewell harvest home dinner to their friends last Saturday at 6 p. m. The young ladies dressed in costumes of "ye olden time" style. The costumes of the young people were very amusing.

The Northwestern Military Academy foot-ball team played the Francis Parker Academy boys on our field last Saturday. The score resulted in a glorious victory for the home team, 47-0, notwithstanding the fact that a number of Northwestern boys were laid out.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Chapman returned from their bridal trip in the east last week and have taken temporary quarters at the Virginia while their home is being fitted up for occupancy. They will undoubtedly form a part of the Park's summer contingent next season.

25 photos for 25 cents. Owing to the large amount of work we still have on hand we will be compelled to remain in Highland Park for another week. 25 photos in five different styles for only 25 cents is my specialty. Penny Photo Gallery, 279 West Central Ave. 20.

Ex-Postmaster William E. Brand is an artist of recognized ability and all are glad to know that in his new position as art instructor in the school over at Aurora, is meeting with deserved success. The fine portrait of the late Col James in our city council chamber is his work.

One of our retired capitalists was in the post-office Monday evening admiring the beautiful sunset and the improvements recently made in the office, when he looked up and said, "This city is getting very tony, see all these improvements, that fine plate glass window, the new doors, and look at that awning."

A bright couple were greatly crestfallen last week upon arriving in the Park and calling on the Judge, to learn that their Chicago marriage license was not current coin in the realm in Lake County, though he offered to slip down to Glencoe on the trolley and do the job in that neat little electric road depot.
