HIGH SCHOOL.

There will be a regular page next week.

During vacation a very valuable addition was made to our museum in the shape of a meteorite, weighing one hundred and forty-three pounds. Mr. Michael Bohl, the donor, says:

"Let me describe the meteor from which this stone fell. On the evening of the 2nd of December, 1876, persons in the state of Kansas, saw, about eight o'clock in the evening, a bright fire-ball, rising from near where the moon then was in the western sky. It increased in brilliancy as it proceeded, becoming so bright as to compel the attention of every one who was out of doors. The same meteor was seen to pass across the heavens from west-southwest to east-northeast, by inhabitants of the states of Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.
But besides this, there was heard near the meteor's path, four or five minutes after its passage, loud explosions like distant cannonading or thunder. So loud were these that people and animals were frightened. East of the Mis-sippi River these explosions were heard everywhere within sixty miles of the meteor's path, and in Bloomington, Indiana, sounds were heard to come from the meteor, even at a distance of nearly one hundred and fifty miles from it. Over central Illinois it was seen to break into fragments like a rocket, and over Ohio it formed a flock or cluster of meteors computed to be forty miles long and five miles broad. This meteor was one of three of the flock that fell in Ohio, and was secured some ten years ago by a personal friend of mine as I was traveling over that part of Ohio for O. & W.
Reifsnider of Chicago, my employers.

I take great pleasure in presenting this meteor to the Deerfield Township high school museum."
