Ladies who bring their valuable pet dogs into the post office, to the discomfiture of patrons, would do well to get them checked outside.

Col. F. O. Lowden appears to be the choice of the Lake county republicans for governor. He is an able, eloquent, clear and concise talker. A man whose integrity cannot be questioned; a deep thinker, liberal on social and economical questions, and an all around, broad-gaged man, extraordinarily well qualified in both literature and law. A character well fitted to adorn the Gubernatorial Chair of our great state.

Pen "beggars description," when it endeavors to describe the disgusting scenes enacted in the lobby of the post office last Monday afternoon, between the pet canines of the "bull-dog" breed. Frightened children ran screaming to get away from the "dear little pets," as they held each other in fond embrace. If such cruelties are allowed to appear on the street they should be muzzled or it is well to inform the public that when one of that variety takes hold, the old expression is, "they never let go." Whether it be one of their own tribe or the genus homo." Is there no law to abate this nuisance? It is not speaking too plainly, as these pests have been declared so by any law abiding and peaceful citizens. When some children have been seriously bitten or some viciously attacked, a remedy will be found to keep these dogs off the public streets.

RAVINIA.

Miss Rosie Rudolph visited friends in Irving Park for a few days last week.

Mr. N. L. McKenzie's sister, who has been quite sick at her home, has recovered and went this week to visit friends in Chicago.

Next Sunday, a number of the officers of the Protective Board of the Santa Fe Road, will take dinner and inspect the Railway Men's Home.

Mr. Phillip Wilcox, of the Railway Men's Home, has been a severe sufferer for some time with skin disease. Mr. O'Keefe, the manager, took him to a specialist on Monday and the doctor says he can relieve him in a short time.

On Sunday, twelve of the officers of the consolidated Locomotive and Firemans General Protective Board, of the Rock Island System, took dinner at the Railway Mens' Home and were well pleased with its present condition.

ILLINOIS FIREMEN'S CONVENTION

The Illinois Firemens association held their annual convention at Waukegan, Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday of the past week. About 250 representatives were present from various points in the state. On the first day of the convention, after a short business session, an adjournment was taken for the purpose of visiting Zion City. A special train was in waiting, which conveyed the entire party to that place, where they were shown through the various industries and later seated in a magnificent dining hall, where a seven course dinner was served.

The second day was devoted to business of the association. On the third day the convention finished business at noon, after having decided unanimously to hold the next annual convention in Waukegan. After adjournment the entire party boarded a special train which brought them to Fort Sheridan, where they were met by Col. Yeatman, who personally conducted the party through the Barracks, Mess hall, Guard house and other buildings of interest on the reservation. Then, headed by Mayor Gibbs and Fire Marshal Detrick, all marched down town, where our city hall, fire department and city jail was inspected, after which the delegates took trains for home.
