OUR CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR.

In another column will be seen Mr. F. W. Cushing's regular announcement as a candidate for State Senator, subject to the pleasure of the regular republican convention.

It would seem superfluous for us to undertake to demonstrate to our readers Mr. Cushing's fitness for this important office.

Mr. Cushing has been known in this vicinity for years as an enterprising, and therefore successful business man, who has made a host of friends in all walks of life.

Of all the candidates offered, none are cleaner of political intrigue, none better qualified to serve as a representative of the people as a whole than Mr. F. W. Cushing.

Deerfield has now offered the most logical candidate to the coming convention.

It now remains to be seen whether it is any use to send delegates from Deerfield in the hope of getting any office for a Deerfield man.

Being the "son of one's father" may be a hindrance or a help. It is first necessary for the son of a father to "make good," says the Albany (N. Y.) Argus. Having shown cause—having lived down the handicap and proved the non-existence of silly conceit or stupidity—hereafter the son of his father has much easier sledding than a young man of equal abilities but of obscure parentage. His father's friends will help him; the family name, influence, prestige and traditions will all help him, so that while not merely the son of his father, he will show, if he has sense, that his road is a great deal easier, straighter and smoother because his father broke the path for him to travel.

ANNOUNCEMENT

In response to the request of many of my friends and neighbors I beg to announce myself a candidate for the nomination of State Senator at the Republican Convention to be held at Libertyville on the 26th inst.

The Family Hat in Corea.

A Philadelphia man who has been in Corea, over which the Russians and Japs are at war, long enough to grow familiar with its customs, says one of the most unique and picturesque of them is the family hat, that descends from father to elder son. This hat, made from the hair of the family ancestors, is a priceless possession, and so carefully handled that it never wears out.—Philadelphia Record.

According to the government report nuts are very nourishing food and by no means indigestible, as some suppose. They are highly concentrated and therefore should be eaten with some discretion. The wanton destruction of forests has reduced the supply of nut-bearing trees, and the department of agriculture is doing all it can to encourage replanting.

A dog was playing a piano in a circus in Yorkshire, England, recently, when one of the audience called out "Rats!" The dog immediately vacated his seat and "went for" the rodents. The piano kept on playing.

A young lady who is a professional story teller at children's parties (a charming profession, by the way), says she never dares venture on fairy tales, as the children are too skeptical. Animal stories she finds the most popular, farmyard stories for the poor children, and tales of adventure and hairbreadth escapes for the well-to-do classes.

A justice of the peace has a wonderful conception of the fitness of things. When a man and woman appear before him with a marriage license he always gives them a life sentence.

One of the queerest survivals is the request in death notices that New York, Boston and Chicago papers "please copy." They never do.

Charity, says a German proverb, gives itself rich; covetousness hoards itself poor.

On the turn of the dice you dream you choose; we bet you lose.
