

HIGHLAND PARK NEWS-LETTER

Ravinia

The Livingston residence on Dean avenue is nearing completion.

Mrs. Agnes L. Hill, who has been traveling in the Far East, is at present in London.

Mrs. O. A. Leonard and Miss A. L. Hill have returned from their recent trip to St. Louis.

The children of Mr. Bell and James Genty have recovered from their recent attack of chicken pox and are able to attend school again.

Mrs. C. A. Leonard and Miss Agnes Hill have returned from the "Inside Inn" at St. Louis, where they spent an enjoyable time at the Worlds Fair.

Miss Anna C. Peck of the Art Institute, Chicago, visited in Ravinia after a month's visit at the Fair. Miss Peck left for New York this week, where she will remain some months.

A movement is on foot to establish a literary society among the residents of Ravinia. This is a move in the right direction and should have the cooperation of all intelligent citizens.

For so small a school, Ravinia can boast of several advantages. Jessy Learning, the principal, has added a music teacher of ability, Miss Ethel Coe of the Art Institute of Chicago, and Miss Martindale for the music. Miss Esther Holmes, the regular teacher, has about twenty-five or more pupils in regular attendance.

O. G. Kellogg, well remembered in this city, lately visited here with a view to reopen a church and Sunday school in the now closed church building. The Protestant population is large enough to support a house of worship; and should in the interests of decency keep the door of our little church unlocked on Sundays if only for the few "whosoever will to come". It is something of a problem for the average mother to get to attend a church having to be reached by street cars, every week. A certain number of families have spoken favorably of Mr. Kellogg's project. But the work will come to naught unless the residents of Ravinia come forward and sustain the work. The number of past failures in this direction need not deter you from making this a success.

From Lake County Papers

The new W. C. T. U. reading room at Libertyville was formally opened to the public last Saturday evening. The rooms will be open daily from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

High-class journalism merits the patronage of the best people, and for this reason The Chicago Evening Post is the one paper that goes into the best homes of Chicago and the suburbs.

The first military ball to be held in Waukegan will be held next Tuesday evening, the occasion being the dedication of Battery C's new armory on Spring street. State National Guard officers and regular army officers from Fort Sheridan will be present, and it is hoped that Gov. Yates will attend. The committee of arrangements have secured the famous Seventh Regiment band of Chicago for the occasion.

There are but few composers in Highland Park. There are fewer still possessing sufficient merit to be deemed worthy of a place in the high class magazines. We notice among the musical members of the Christmas "Ladies Home Journal" a contribution by Mr. Price, manager of the North Shore Gas Company. It is a new setting to Phillips Brooks' "A Little Town of Bethlehem," and is arranged for solo and quartet.

The real estate business seems to be booming out Rondout way. Following close upon the Armour deal of last week, which involved over 800 acres of farm land, comes the announcement of pending arrangements for 2000 acres of land to parties supposed to be agents of the C. M. & St. P. Railroad. The object of the deal is reported to be for the establishment of a large sheep ranch as an auxiliary to the Chicago Stock yards.

Officials of the Chicago & Milwaukee Electric road announced their intention of operating a freight service between Rockefeller and North Chicago, beginning January 1st. This will give the large factories located at the former place connection with the Wisconsin Central and afford competition in freight business, for which they have so long wished. Work on the extension from Libertyville to Rockefeller is being rushed and there is little doubt but it will be completed by the first of the year. Of course at the same time the freight service is inaugurated passenger cars will also be run from Rockefeller, which will be the western terminal instead of Libertyville.

Over at Lake Bluff work has so far progressed on the subway that by December 15th it will be put into use and cars from Libertyville will then pass under the Northwestern tracks to a station on the main line, and which has been built within the last few days, where passengers can transfer to either south or north bound cars. A half hour schedule will be maintained on the Libertyville branch which will do away with long waits for cars on the main line. This will be much appreciated by patrons of the road going from Libertyville as in severe weather it is decidedly disagreeable being delayed at Lake Bluff with aught but an unheated waiting room for shelter.

Lake Bluff Gets Naval Site

Accepting the recommendation of the special board having the matter in charge, President Roosevelt has selected Lake Bluff as the site of the new naval training station which the government will shortly establish.

Congressman George Edmund Foss and Graeme Stewart of Chicago, representing the Commercial Club, the Merchant's Club and the Chicago Commercial association have worked hard for this site, and are to be congratulated on their success. They were notified of the President's choice by Secretary of the Navy Paul Morton.

A FOOTBALL TRAGEDY.

ON the bloody gridiron the two teams, evenly matched, contended for the mastery. The game was nearly over. The score stood 0 to 0, and the spectators in the grand stand were wild with excitement.

Suddenly a shrill, piercing, agonizing, appalling, insistent shriek rose high above the din.

The people in the grandstand rose to their feet and craned their necks.

Whence came that wild, maddening scream?

None could tell.

Still it pealed through the atmosphere.

The struggling athletes paused an instant and looked around in affright.

All but the self-possessed young man who had the ball.

Seeing the way clear, he ran around the end, scored a touchdown, and the game was won.

Then the agonizing shriek stopped.

But whence came it?

Listen, and you shall hear.

Boys on the outside of the grounds had caught a half grown pig, tied a rope around his hind feet, and strung him up on a stout nail in the fence.

Thus had one lone rooster accomplished what all the others had failed to do.

Wherever life is simple and sane, true pleasure accompanies it as fragrance does uncultivated flowers. Be this life hard, hampered, devoid of all things ordinarily considered as the very conditions of pleasure, the rare and delicate plant, joy, flourishes there. It springs up between the flags of the pavement, on an arid wall, in the fissure of a rock. We ask ourselves how it comes, and whence. But it lives; while in the soft warmth of conservatories or in fields richly fertilized you cultivate it at a golden cost to see it fade and die in your hand.
