WHAT-NOT

A TROUBLED CONSCIENCE.

THE small boy is always an interesting proposition. Johnny Hopkins had been sent by his mother to borrow a flat-iron of a neighbor, and the latter offered him a piece of pie.

"No, thank you, I don't want any pie," and the red-faced boy started home. Half way there, the pie and his conscience were too much for him. He wheeled about and knocked again at the neighbor's door, his face redder than ever. "I told a story," he explained, "I did want that pie."

A MYSTERY.

A Wisconsin paper is responsible for the story that a girl in that state was stuck in the side with a needle a year ago. The other day a needle worked its way out of the arm of a young man who had been calling on her quite frequently.

MAKING THE CROOKED STRAIGHT.

A certain lover of art has a good collection of etchings, one of them being of the leaning tower of Pisa, which hangs over his writing desk. For a long time he noticed that it persisted in hanging crooked, despite the fact that he straightened it every morning. At last he spoke to the maid, asking her if she was responsible for its lopsided condition. "Why yes," she said. "I have to harg it crooked to make the tower hang straight."

PATRIOTISM.

Caller—"Say, I want to know if the British ever captured and burned Washington."

Information Editor—"They certainly did. It was in the war of 1812."

Caller (with a heavy sigh)—"Well, I suppose I've lost, but I'd rather be the loser on a bet of that kind, by George, than to be the winner!"

A DEFINITION.

In a Chicago school lately a number of scholars were asked to explain the meaning of "righteous indignation." One little chap replied: "Being angry without swearing."

ON SHERIDAN ROAD.

"O, do be careful! It would be awful if the auto should start now."

"Well," came a muffled voice from beneath the machine, "if it starts now, after we've been tinkering for half a day, for goodness sake don't do anything to stop it."

THE PRECISE AGE.

A friend took me to the foot of an immense mountain, says a traveler, and, lifting his hand impressively, exclaimed, "That crater is 40,013 years old."

I didn't mean to doubt him, but naturally I asked, "Why the 13?"

"Oh," said my friend, "I've been here that long. It was 40,000 when I came."
