The latter committee explained that plans had been completed for a system that this city could connect with at the south limit of Railway Ave. near the viaduct, that a disposal plant would be built on the lake shore, and that the probable cost to this city for the privilege of connecting would be from eight to ten thousand dollars and so much annually for its maintenance. The matter will be considered at the next meeting of the Highland Park council, after which it will be sent to our city in official form.

A bill prepared by W. H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti Saloon League, has been introduced at Springfield and is being viewed with much favor by our representatives. ## Ravinia

The many friends of Frederick Page will sympathize with him in the loss of his young daughter, Henrietta. The little girl was stricken with typhoid fever a very short time when the malady proved fatal. The father, children and grand parents were spending the winter at their Chicago residence, on Washington Boulevard. It is three years this coming March since the passing away of the child's mother, who was a sister of Mr. F. R. McMullen here. Little Henrietta was seven years of age, a beautiful and promising child. A four year old brother survives her.

Robert Johnson, who was seriously ill with hemorrhages of the lungs the past few weeks, is reported to be on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mitchell had visitors from Winnetka lately.

Mrs. Dobson, mother of Mrs. O. G. Kellogg formerly of this city, is suffering from appendicitis, in Chicago.

Rev. Rogers, pastor of Highland Park Baptist church, opened services in the Ravinia church last Sunday, and will continue to hold meetings here until further notice. A fair attendance was noticed last Sunday, with the promise of a larger when the services become more generally known. Thanks are due Wm. McKenzie for attending to the furnace, etc. The service is for both children and adults and commences at 3 sharp.

Mr. McMullen's gardner has just received some more hot-bed frames, and is having success with his home gardening. His lettuce is several inches high at present. This is quite encouraging, considering our zero weather just past.

Mr. J. H. Bell's young child Helen had a narrow escape from death by poisoning the other day. A box of water color paints was found and tested gastronomically. Dr. Bergen was called, and saved the young lady by prompt measures.

Ravinia Park was well patronized this week, and on Tuesday the rink was occupied by the Highland Park Hokey Club in a game.
