A novel enterprize has been taken up by Mrs. George Plummer Everhart in the way of a "commission shop" in Chicago, for the sale of women's wearing apparel which has been made by Chicago women. The idea was carried out by Mrs. Everhart in order to give these women, who need financial aid, an opportunity to put their work on sale. The plan is to enlarge the scheme as soon as results will permit, and the "Carrieabbie," as the shop is called, will contain millinery, clothing and all kinds of fancy work and paintings. There will be a formal opening of the "Carrieabbie" at No 6 Madison street on Monday.
