The guests enacted and represented Bird Center characters, causing a great deal of amusement and a complete surprise to the guests of honor. Some very good costumes were worn.

A quorum was not present at the council meeting Tuesday night, postponing business until an extra session is called. Mr. Ramsey was at the village hall, however, and in conference with Mr. Sidney Gorham, secretary of the Chicago Automobile Club, concerning the automobile question in the village. It seems that suggestions have been made as to the advisability of a combination of all the North Shore suburbs on the automobile disturbance and a uniform speed limit adopted. Mr. Gorham expresses his willingness to do all in his power to discourage scorching and is as desirous for its cessation as the Glencoe authorities. No definite result has been reached as yet.

Several arrests were made Sunday in the village as usual, and a good many more Monday, when Labor Day brought the automobiles out en masse.

At the Skokie Club

Contrary to the usual custom there will be dancing at the club every Saturday evening throughout September. Social gaiety will have no lull between the end of the summer season and the open tournaments beginning September 26, when the largest events of the autumn will take place. Not that the luncheons and dinners are not as popular as ever now. They are more so if anything. The coming of the autumn flowers and the general rush of people back to town do not, as a rule, cool the ardor of the country club men and women.

Winnetka was well and pleasantly represented, Sunday, by Mr. Douglas Smith and Mr. J. E. Bradstreet who were cordial dinner hosts, while Miss Leslie entertained a few friends at tea. Monday, and Mrs. Woods gave a large and delightful luncheon Tuesday. Mrs. Manchester and Mrs. Davis of Glencoe were both charming luncheon hostesses on Monday and Tuesday, respectively.

Perhaps the ladies have been too busily golfing. At any rate, they have some good records to show for their work on the green and not one of their September events is mentioned in the new monthly schedule. Their several very interesting items were ready for notice too late, at least, the gentlemen could not wait any longer to have the circulars printed, so those who wish to know the women's club happenings must look elsewhere for information.

The qualifying round for the handicap eighteen hole contest for the Woman's and Club cups, was held Wednesday. Nothing of unusual interest occurred. The first round match play is scheduled for Monday, September 11.

Monday is usually claimed as women's golf day at the club, but September 4, being a holiday, was and Director's cups. The skies were cloudy all the morning and part of the afternoon, yet threatening as they looked, they served to keep off the sun and the long thirty-six hole play was more easily made. Some, however, played eighteen holes Saturday and the remaining eighteen only, Monday. These cups are "scratch" contests without handicap. The highest sixteen scores qualifying for the President's Cup and the next highest sixteen for the Director's. The winner of the President's cup will be considered club champion, so only regular members are eligible to the tourney.

The best scores, Monday, were made by H. R. B. Davison, N. J. Hoyt, W. M. Dean, William Houghteling, William H. Bennet and J. C. Howard.

Fort Sheridan

Battalion Sergeant Major J. C. Simmons' son has been on the sick list.

Sergt. Major McIntyre entertained a number of his Highland Park friends last Friday. Light refreshments added to the pleasure of the evening.

Dr. Richardson has received his appointment after a successful examination.

Sergt. McGuire has a ten days furlough and is visiting at his home in Kentucky where he has a sister who is very ill.

Capt. W. D. Bates and family have moved to Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, their future home.

Ravinia Park

Ravinia Park Pavilion will have the honor of presenting a new and unquestionably great composer to Chicago on Monday when Lorenzo Perosi's "The Resurrection of Christ" will be produced by Sorrentino's Banda Rossa and a quartet of Grand Opera singers. Perosi is a young priest of the papal household and "The Resurrection of Christ" is a vital section of a cycle of twelve oratorios composed by the youthful prelate five years ago. America is unacquainted with his works and Ravinia's production of this oratorio is equipped with every requirement necessary to harmonize with the subject and the solemn music. The artists engaged to interpret the voice parts of the oratorio are Mme. Gina Ciaparelli, Albert Quinsel, Bessie Bonsall and Signor Salvatore Nunziato.

The following article appeared in the "Army and Navy Journal" of August 26th, 1905.

"On Sunday night August 13th, at the First Baptist Church, at Highland Park, Illinois, near Fort Sheridan, the Rev. George D. Rogers presented to each of the members of the Comrade's Club, composed entirely of soldiers of the 27th Infantry who are members of that church, a handsomely bound Bible, donated by Miss Helen Gould for that purpose. The Rev. Mr. Roger's presentation address was very impressive."

Seeing the Fair

A certain party of Highland Park people went to the fair at Libertyville Thursday. They went on the C. & M. E. electric cars, and had a perfectly glorious time. Too much cannot be said concerning the rapturous enjoyment of the scenery along the route. It was such a short distance to Libertyville, too. When the car reached Libertyville, they were so enchanted with the beauty and comfort of it all, that nothing could induce them to transfer to the everyday, prosaic busses. Not they. Besides, what was the use? They were sure that the car went to the fair grounds, and they felt a wee bit contemptuous of those who chose to ride to the fair behind horses. So they sat rapt in contemplation of the ever changing scene.

They have changed the location of the fair ground, they thought, and the first glimmer of suspicion entered their minds when they arrived (or, rather, when the car stopped again) their worst fears were confirmed. They were at Rockefeller; and a friendly native assured them that it wasn't the fair ground; that Rockefeller had no intention of absorbing the fair ground; and, furthermore, the fair ground was not far enough in the opposite direction to suit Rockefeller. And when the car returned to Libertyville, it contained a very silent party, which, an hour later took seats in the once despicable bus, and saw the fair after all.

Moral: Who was the guide?

Reports recently made public by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent concern for all Bell Telephone companies operating in the United States and Canada, show that within the past four years there has been a phenomenal increase in the use of the instruments. Within the past twelve months there have been nearly 1,000,000 instruments installed and the total number of phones now in use throughout the territory reaches 5,026,514.

The Chicago Telephone Company, operating in ten counties about Chicago, is one of the largest of the Bell Companies in the United States. A statement in a recent issue of the Chicago Economist shows that this concern now has 131,754 instruments in use, there having been an increase of 13,861 during the first six months of the present year. The total increase for the twelve months of last year was but 16,700. By computation it is found that one-eighteenth of the whole number of Bell instruments in the United States are in the territory of the Chicago Company.
