

GLENCOE NOTES

Mrs. B. F. Becker has been ill the past week.

Mrs. C. H. Merrell is the guest of Mrs. W. D. Scott.

Mrs. F. P. Pattan is visiting friends in Brokenarrow, Indian Territory.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Conrad is quite sick with diphtheria.

Being unable to form a quorum the regular council meeting Tuesday night was postponed.

Miss Margurite Coy is the charming young hostess of a party for her school girl friends, from two until five.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Morrow and family have returned home from Connelsville, Missouri, where they have been spending the summer and the early autumn.

Mr. Walter Bohnhoff, who was injured severely by a train on the Northwestern railroad two weeks ago, is slightly improved, having sustained the effects of an operation, and hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The last tourney at the Skokie Golf Club ended last Saturday, when Dr. J. M. Kirk of Evanston defeated Mr. H. P. Williams of Glencoe, five up and four to play, carrying off the Hoyt cup, a magnificent trophy, well worth playing for.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Guild of the Episcopal church Tuesday afternoon was varied by an afternoon tea, to which all the gentlemen were bidden and served with a cup of tea and a wafer for the diminutive sum of ten cents. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. F. T. King.

Miss Alice Davis, of Lakeside, formerly of Glencoe, was married very quietly Wednesday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Davis, to Mr. J. A. Cornell. Only a few friends and relatives witnessed the short but impressive ceremony, though the house was thrown open to a large number of friends of both families at four o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Cornell left for the east, where Mr. Cornell's duties as a clergyman will soon call him.

The result of the election last Tuesday was highly satisfactory to most villagers, the Preserve Act being lost and the public library gained. The former was defeated by a considerable majority while the latter was carried two to one. Glencoiters allowed their voting duties to infringe upon business hours and spent the greater part of the Eight in holiday enjoyment before and after visiting the polls. The pleasures of golf claimed most of the men who can not forego the links even if the clubhouse holds nothing more refreshing than golf sticks this cool weather.

A Serious Fire

A more unfortunate and utterly destroying fire in a village can hardly be imagined than that at the corner of Sheridan road and Hazel avenue, when the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Flanders was burded. The fire first became evident shortly before two o'clock Friday morning, to Mr. Paul Flanders, who was awakened by the smoke with which his room was rapidly filling. He aroused his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flanders, who, after an alarm was sent in hastened to the open air. The blaze did not seem to be serious and to all appearances was quickly under control so no attempt was made to carry out any belongings or household furnishings. Satisfied that the danger was completely overcome with but some slight damage from the water and the tearing up of the tiles about the fire place in the parlor, the fire department left and the family returned to the house. It was scarcely more than fifteen minutes after this that flames burst from the whole roof, in fact, throughout the entire house. The front stair way was entirely cut off as an exit while the smoke rendered it difficult for the members of the house to escape at all. In descending the back stairs, Dr. Flanders fell sustained some slight injuries from the accident while the destruction of the property was quickly accomplished.

Mr. Flanders believes the fire to have originated in the cellar, where a pile of coke was in close proximity to the chute from the grate in the parlor. Some live coals had, evidently, been pushed down the chute the evening before, igniting the coke, from which the blaze spread to a wooden partition where it hardly needed the assistance of the draughts in the spaces between the partitions throughout the house to give it life, it must have been smouldering for some time before its discovery. The loss is estimated to be considerably above the amount of insurance, which is $6000.00.

At present Mr. Flanders is planning for a subdivision of the grounds on which three houses will be erected.

Sermon on Extensions

Catechism over a valuable invention not generally understood.

Question:—What is an extension telephone?

Answer:—It is a secondary instrument, connected with the main line but located in some other part of the house than is the main telephone.

Q.—What good is it?

A.—It equals a double telephone service.

Q.—When is it valuable?

A.—In case of illness the patient may converse with friends without leaving the bed; it is valuable to the business man who is confined to his room but whose skilled brain must direct the intricate details of his business; if a burglar is downstairs the police may be called without braving the dangers of the intruder's revolver; it saves stair climbing.

Q.—What does this extension cost?

A.—Only about three cents per day.

Q.—Do others use it?

A.—Enterprising citizens already recognize its value. The cost is small; the benefits large. It's a boon to the wife or mother. Solicitous for his wife's comfort and health, the husband cares not for the small expense. Paradoxically—it is a necessity for those who can afford it. Ask for further information from Manager Ford of the Chicago Telephone Company.

Comes In Handy

Nurse—Did you ring, madam?

Madam—Yes, Marie; get the incubator up out of the cellar and put the baby back in for a few days.

Nurse—Oh, but, madam—

Madam—That will do, Marie; we won't argue. I am preparing a paper for the club on "The Relativeness of the Absolute," and I simply can't be bothered.

Ernest Thompson Seton

Ernest Thompson Seton, the eminent writer and lecturer on American Indians and animals is to make his farewell appearance on the lecture platform at Ravinia Theatre, Saturday evening, November 25. Mr. Seton will deliver his interesting lecture on "Indians As I Know Them." He will also tell about the different animals in his favorite stories:—The Sandhill Stag, Wab, the Grizzly, the Pacing Mustang Mollie Cottontail, Lobe, the Springfield Fox, Little Johnnie and others.

To the little folks, Mr. Seton is probably the most interesting figure among the American lecturers. He has appeared before over a million children and half as many grown people and his retirement from the lecture field will be the public's loss. Mr. Seton's literary work demands his entire attention so in the future his time will be devoted to study and travel in search of material for his books.

The announcement of his appearance at Ravinia Theatre has been received with a great deal of pleasure both by the children and the grown people of Chicago's North Shore. The lecture will begin sharp at 8 o'clock, in order that the little folks may go home at a reasonable hour.

The Chicago & Milwaukee Electric Railroad have arranged to run ten minute car service to Ravinia Theatre from all points between Evanston and Lake Forest on evenings of entertainments; special cars will also run from Waukegan and Lake Bluff to the Theatre.

The Casino at Ravinia is now open for the Winter under the management of Edward J. Welsh, formerly of the Exmoor Club.

Tickets for the Ice Rink and Toboggon slide are now on sale at the Casino.

Game Protective League

The Lake County Game Protective League was formally organized at Waukegan last Saturday, following a dinner at the Schwartz Hotel.

The following officers were elected. A. K. Stearns, Waukegan, President; J. F. Bidinger, Waukegan, Secretary; W. E. Miller, Waukegan, first vice president; George Renehan, Waukegan, second vice president; Otto Muehrcke, Fox Lake, treasurer; executive committee, all the officers, Fred Schaefer, Highland Park, Mayor Bullock, Waukegan, Tom Graham, Long Lake, and Tom Appleton, Lake Forest.

The aim of the League is to protect the fish and game of Lake County, and to work for good roads in the country.
