High School News

The second quarterly examination will be given next Thursday, and the following Monday, Jan. 29th, the second semester begins. New students will be admitted to the following classes:—Arithmetic, English, Commercial Geography, Roman History, Drawing and Manual Training.

With the holiday vacation the school lost six pupils. Herman Lay and Grace Lighthall have moved away. Elsie Kopenhoffer was obliged to discontinue her studies owing to the illness of her mother. Gordon Van Riper has taken a position with Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Chicago. Ella Davis and Marian Hicks are in ill health.

Winfield Spencer, formerly of Racine Military Academy, has recently entered the High school.

The Seniors and Juniors gave a party in the gymnasium last Friday evening which the students enjoyed greatly. Several of the High school alumni were present, and a number of out of town guests.

Several boys in the shop are putting in extra time after school on projects of their own and many interesting pieces of work are in progress.

Several Seniors are hard at work upon the Historical essay for the prize which the Daughters of the American Revolution have offered. Washington's birthday is the time set for the presentation of the prize.

Wednesday afternoon, January 10, New Trier and Deerfield were scheduled for a game of basket ball at Winnetka. For some reason the New Trier team did not appear and the game was not played. This Wednesday the High school played the N. W. A. team and won from them by a score of 32-26. The basket throwing on the part of the High school was poor but their team work excellent. The Academy, with Tonhagen as star, threw very well considering the few chances they had with the ball. Fritsch was star player on the High school team.

The Seniors are already preparing their roles for a play to be given at commencement time in place of the regulation essays. Ravinia Park theatre will doubtless be the place of presentation of the drama.

Concerning the debate which was scheduled between New Trier and Deerfield we would say that New Trier refused to accept the question submitted by the Highland Park students, although it had been decided that Deerfield should choose the question and New Trier choose the side. Question was:—Resolved that a National Committee should be appointed to fix Railroad rates. Deerfield is now awaiting a question to be submitted by New Trier. It is hoped that these debates may be an annual affair and that they will go far toward interesting our young men in current social and political questions. It would be an excellent thing if some public spirited citizen would offer a silver cup to be presented to that school which would first win three debates. Such a thing would keep up debates and serve to increase interest in them.
