Motorman Freed From Blame

The coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. Slaughter, who was thrown from an automobile and killed at Evanston last Sunday night, completely exonerates Motorman L. A. Bradway of Highwood, who was running the car which struck the machine, and who was held under $5000 bonds laid stress upon the need of a watchman day and night at that crossing, and also states that in its opinion the husband, who was driving the automobile, did not use reasonable care, it being brought out at the inquest that he drove up onto the tracks and came to a full stop, probably intending to back off.
