

What People Are Doing in Highwood

Miss Beulah Cummings is ill with the grip.

Miss DeGraff, who has been spending some time with Miss Harriett Fox, left yesterday for her home in Buffalo, N. Y.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the English Methodist church met with Mrs. Gillette on Thursday afternoon.

The regular meeting of the city council will be held next Tuesday evening.

FOR SALE:— 5 rooms brick cottage; basement, water and gas. Lot 50x203. Address P. O. box 94, Highwood.

A large number of the young people held a halloween party at the home of Mrs. Prosser on Wednesday evening. The evening was very pleasantly passed in the usual games and pastimes, and refreshments were served.

Frank Finck has resigned from the police force and has opened a saloon formerly occupied by E. A. Heustis.

The Shamrock Euchre Club has been organized for winter pleasure. The first meeting of the club was held at the home of Vencil Musik Thursday evening, and the time was passed in cards. Mr. Peter Conley won the first prize, and Mr. Daniel McCarty succeeded in capturing the booby prize. It is planned to hold a dance in Odd Fellows' hall in the near future. The next meeting of the club will be held at W. F. Hogan's a week from Thursday night.

Mrs. Weeks' mother, Mrs. Mary Walker, died at her home in the North End on Wednesday. She was 87 years old, and had been in feeble health for some time, but it was not thought that the end was near. She died very suddenly, not being ill at all until a few minutes before her death.

The officials and trainmen of the C. & M. E. Ry. presented Mr. and Mrs. E. S. DesJardins, the retiring superintendent, with a fine diamond ring last evening. The presentation took place in the gymnasium, and Mr. F. S. Munro made the presentation speech. At the same time Mr. Green, the retiring train dispatcher, was presented with a gold watch, and Mr. and Mrs. Naumes were given a gold watch and a fine set of silverware as a wedding present.

It is rumored that Mr. E. A. Vivian and Mr. J. F. Scott are rivals for the office of president of the Success Club, and are canvassing thoroughly for votes. The current price is said to be $5.00.

Mr. Joseph Yopp has been appointed on the police force to take the place of Mr. Finck, who has resigned.

William Hostetter is now presiding behind the Bark Hotel bar.

Edward Goehringer has bought out the saloon run for some time past by Devine & Goehringer. The new proprietor says the place will be run strictly according to the city ordinances.

New Books

White Fang, Whispering Smith, Blindfolded, Saul of Tarsus, and many others. $1.25 the copy. Albert Larson, Newsdealer, Stationer and Tobacconist.

The Twilight Club is to continue to hold Saturday evening dances at Fort Sheridan Park Pavilion through the winter.

One of the citizens of Highwood went out hunting last week on a last year's license. He paid $25 for the privilege.

Mrs. W. W. Wagoner has been quite ill for several days.

Supper and Apron Sale

The ladies of the First United Evangelical Church will give an old fashioned supper and conduct an apron sale Tuesday evening, Nov. 6, in the old Library Building. Supper will be served from 5 to 8 o'clock, for 25 cents; children 15 cents.

Ice Cream and cake will also be in evidence. A beautiful line of home made aprons of all sizes, shapes and colors will be on sale at most reasonable prices. Everybody that comes will be guaranteed a good time and eminent satisfaction.

Nevins-Naumes Wedding

A very pretty wedding and one which came as a surprise to many people was that of Miss Delia Evangeline Nevins and Mr. John Peter Naumes, which took place on the afternoon of Wednesday, the thirty-first of October, at St. Mary's Church.

Miss Nevins wore a white gown and carried white bride's roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude Nevins, as maid of honor. After December first Mr. and Mrs. Naumes will be at home in Blue Island, Ill.

The marriage was a very quiet one, only relatives and close friends being present. After the ceremony supper was served at the bride's home. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James MacLear of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald of Evanston, and Mr. William Nevins, a brother of the bride, from St. Paul.

County Fair

Wednesday evening, the night of many wierd frolics, was celebrated by the cadets of the Northwestern Military Academy and their friends in a most novel and entertaining manner. The Drill Hall was the scene of a gathering more wonderful than ever attended a Country Fair, for such it was called. Around the sides of the room were stands upon which the handiwork of the farmer's wives was on exhibition. Some of the work certainly should have had a blue ribbon.

Major Davidson, as a patent medicine man, attracted a crowd wherever he went. Mrs. Davidson, as a little Dutch girl, Dr. and Mrs. Rogers as Reuben and his wife, had their share of attention. Among the students clown's, cowboy's and negroe's costumes seemed to hold popular places, although several very good dudes and some delightfully verdant farmers were to be seen. During the evening Mr. George Colburn gave a "Punch and Judy" show and a quartet of "swell coons" sang negro songs. The usual Halloween refreshments were served.

On Tuesday evening the Highland Park Club held their usual Halloween frolic. The children's party from seven till nine was followed by a sheet and pillow-case dance for the grown people. A hay-wagon called for the children about nine o'clock and took them to their homes.

Men of Few Words

Two New England farmers met at the postoffice one morning:

"Mornin', Si."

"Mornin', Josh."

"My hoss is aillin', Si. What did you feed your'n on when he was aillin'?"

"Benzine, Josh."

"Mornin', Si."

"Mornin', Josh."

Two days later:-

"Mornin', Si."

"Mornin', Josh."

"Say, Si, my hoss died."

"So did mine, Josh."

"Mornin', Si."

"Mornin', Josh."

"Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree." "

An Established Reputation

A deputy sheriff and chief of police of a Rhode Island city, known in his lifetime as a man whose word could always be taken, once gave a whimsical demonstration of his straightforwardness. One day, according to a writer in the Boston Herald, a grocer went to him for information about a certain Joe White, who had applied for credit at his store.

"Good morning, sheriff!"

"Morning!"

"Do you know Joe White?"

"Yes."

"What kind of a feller is he?"

"Putty fair."

"Is he honest?"

"Honest? I should say so. Been arrested twice for stealing, and acquitted both times."

The story goes that when a certain church choir had finished a pretty noisy anthem, the minister rose and read Acts XX which begins with "And after the uproar was ceased." But when he had finished his sermon and sat down, the choir concluded to take their innings and lustily struck up the song "It is time to awake from sleep."
