

What People Are Doing in Highwood

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pease have moved to Chicago from California and are staying with her people.

Patience Pease, who has been ill, is better.

Mr. Edward Jennings and Mr. Edwin Malmstead of Edgewater were the guest of Mrs. Chas. Brace.

Mr. Arvel Roberg is ill at the home of his aunt, Mrs. A. Roberg.

The Easter exercises will be held at the Highwood M. E. Church Easter Morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Daniel Pease has returned from a visit in the west with her two married sons, Francis and Rollin Pease.

Election Notice

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That a Municipal Election will be held in the City of Highwood, County of Lake, and State of Illinois, according to Law on the third Tuesday in April next, being the sixteenth day thereof, for the election of one Mayor, one City Clerk, one City Treasurer, one Alderman First Ward, one Alderman Second Ward, one Alderman Third Ward, of said city, the same being the officers regularly elected by Law and voted for at said election. The places for holding said election are hereby designated as follows: First Ward, City Hall, Waukegan Avenue, Second Ward, Post Office Bldg., Highwood Avenue; Third Ward, Peter Conley's Barber Shop, Waukegan Ave. Said election will be opened at 7 o'clock in the morning and will continue open until 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the same day. Given under my hand at Highwood, Illinois, the Twenty-first day of March, A. D. 1907.

A. W. HIMMLER,
City Clerk.

"When I was district attorney," said Judge Sweney, of Shasta County, California, I secured the conviction of Montana Jack, who was something of a humorist. When asked by the judge whether he had anything to say against sentence being passed upon him, Jack admitted that he had no protest to make, but that he would like to give a few words of advice to the young men in the room. Permission being granted, Jack said:

"Boys, my advice to you is to stick to whatever you are doin'. Don't change your occupation, or you'll never get along in the world. Look at me. I was a successful burglar for years, never got caught, and collared lots of dough. Then I turned highwayman, and got caught in my first hold-up. And here I am, all the result of changing my occupation. Whatever you are, boys, stick to it."

A Cleveland housekeeper admits that she finds it difficult to run her house on $15,000 a year. She could never get a job as housekeeper where we get our meals.

It's a pretty safe bet that within the last fortnight several railroad presidents have discovered that they can wear hats a size smaller than the old ones through which they have been converging with the State Legislatures.

A N. Y. man says: "Eat plenty of apples, veal and chicken, but keep away from prunes". He talks like a man who neglected to take his own advice.

Every Little Helps

When a stowaway is found on an ocean steamer he is immediately set to work to pay for his passage. One such was recently discovered in the hold of the Mediterranean liner Cretic, and was ordered to the galley, where the cook found plenty to keep him out of mischief.

A lady on a tour of inspection paused near the stowaway as he sat busily peeling potatoes. "How soon do you think we'll reach Naples?"

"Well, madam," he replied cheerfully, "I'm doing all I can to get her in by Tuesday."

Carrying Them Out

Knowall—"I sent you some suggestions telling you how to make your paper more interesting. Have you carried out any of my ideas?"

Editor—"Did you meet the office boy with the waste basket as you came up stairs? Yes? Well, he was carrying out your ideas!"

Where it Belonged

While traveling through Ohio a few years ago Prof. T. C. Mendenhall of the Worcester Institute consented to address a few remarks to the pupils in the district school that he had attended when a boy.

"Did any of you," he asked, "ever see an elephant skin?"

A boy held up his hand and wriggled excitedly.

"Well," said the professor.

"I have," said the boy.

"Where did you see it?"

"On an elephant."

It was in Paris. The loquacious guide was exhibiting to the interested American tourist the tomb of Napoleon with all the customary flourishes of both language and hands.

"This immense sarcophagus," declaimed the guide, "weighs forty tons. Inside of that, sir, is a steel receptacle weighing twelve tons, and inside of that is a leaden casket, hermetically sealed weighing over two tons. Inside of that rests a mahogany coffin containing the remains of the great man."

For a moment the American was silent, as if in deep meditation. Then he said, "It seems to me that you've got him all right. If he ever gets out cable me at my expense."

Superintendent John Flinn of the Indian Schools of Chamberlain, South Dakota, set out on a sixteen mile tramp with a hardy red skin named Black Eagle. The little fellow held out nobly, but during the last two or three miles began to show signs of fatigue.

"Tired?" asked the superintendent.

"No," answered the little Indian bravely, "but I'd like to take off my legs and carry them a while."

Secretary Leob must have a wonderful supply of patience if, by this time, he isn't tired of shooting the Roosevelt third term boom off the White House porch.

"The Appeal to Reason", a Socialist paper published at Girard, Kan., claims to be "the most potent political force in the nation today". Its editor must be a Veritable Sunny Jim.

To Investigate Highwood

Highwood's dives are to be investigated by a special committee of the House, and if the charges against the resorts preying upon the soldiers at Ft. Sheridan are found true, the temper shown by the house seals their doom. The committee consists of Representatives, Frank R. Covey of Belvidere, N. P. ApMadoc of Chicago, and Dennis E. Gibbons of Deerfield. Mr. ApMadoc is the author of the bill which aims at the destruction of the resort. The adoption of the resolution by the house brought about the following from Representative Allen in explanation of his resolution:

"I introduce this resolution at the request of my constituents and it is fitting I should explain my reasons," began the speaker. "I believe a large part of what has been said about the conditions at Highwood is true. But I believe we should have the facts, and the facts can be secured best by a committee of the house. I was visited last week by the mayors of Highwood and North Chicago. In conference with them I told them I believed the ApMadoc bill is bound to pass this legislature and that they could accomplish nothing."

"I also told them, and I now make the state publicly, that I could see no good reason why the saloons of North Chicago, which are to be put out of business by it, yet which never have been charged with any wrongdoing, should not be given a reasonable time in which to wind up their affairs. I told them I would urge such moderation of the bill in regard to these North Chicago saloons. This same statement I have made to Mr. ApMadoc and Mr. Rumsey. Possibly it was on account of my statements to the representatives of Highwood that they failed to appear before the house committee on license last Wednesday. At any rate, the fact remains that their side has never been heard before this house or any committee of this house."

The lightness of money is one of the natural results of over-liquidation.

The investigation of the Penn. State House swindle has so decided that most of the imported material in the new building was imported direct from Pennsylvania.

When Col. Watterson saw the olive groves of Spain, he felt like a Martini cocktail in full bloom.

By this time, the trusts and the railroads must be regarding whitewash as one of the necessities of life.

"See Harriman's Hand", reads a headline. At this distance, it reads like four aces, with a chance to get another in a draw.

A despondent lover in Missouri predicted his end, and committed suicide. Which simply proves he was determined not to be classed with the false prophets.

The men who manufactured Oklahoma's constitution, seem to have forgotten that a good many people outside of Oklahoma have to be suited.

Nashville, Chattanooga and Memphis are the only saloon towns left in Tennessee, and some people are gnashing their teeth over the danger of the Capital.