On Tuesday afternoon the Cadets at the Northwestern Military Academy were drilled in stacking arms and setting up the little shelters, or prep tents as they are called, preparatory to going camping. These tents are big enough for two men, and are readily carried over the shoulder as a pack. The boys showed considerable agility in getting them up.

Wednesday morning at 7:30 a special electric train consisting of two open cars and a baggage car drew up at the Academy platform to take the cadets camping. As they drew away from Highland Park the band sat in the front car and discoursed sweet music. We wish them good weather.

Miss Sutton, who has been teaching English at the High school, will not return next year. She will spend her summer in Charleston, and will attend Columbia university the first part of next year. After that she will probably come back to Chicago. As yet nobody has been secured to take her place on the High School Faculty.

The Lincoln Avenue School is thinking of substituting a picnic along the beach somewhere for commencement exercises this year. The school is much too small to accomodate the crowd that always comes to the graduating exercises, and Miss Nicolai has suggested the picnic.

Miss Minnetta Miller, who was reported last week to be dangerously ill with appendicitis, is much better. Her many friends in Highland Park will be glad to know of her changed condition.

Midsummer Night's Dream, given by the High School Seniors last Saturday night, proved a great success. There were very few vacant seats at the theatre, and it was a sympathetic and enthusiastic crowd. The play itself was better than any one had hoped for. The lines were all well learned, and while some did better than others, all did very well and certainly deserve credit. Arthur Steele and Kenneth King did particularly well as "Quince and Bottom," and Alice Baker's rendering of "Puck" was clever and cute. We wish to congratulate them all on their success, and on having such an excellent dramatic coach as Miss Sutton to help them and teach them stage lore. The music, under Mr. Colburn's direction was very good, and the fairy chorus was one of the chief attractions.

Sunday School Convention

The Township Sunday School Convention met at Gage's Lake on Sunday June 2nd. The little country church which was described as "in the middle of nowhere" was the scene of quite an amimated crowd. Farmers teams were in general evidence and the groups of old and young testified to the fact that the Sunday School is not by any means a "dead issue."

From Highland Park, Mrs. W. G. Underwood and Mr. Chas. Warren were in attendance and they contributed very much to the value of the program. The Rev. Wm. Burgess, who was at Gray's Lake to preach at the Congregational church, also took in the convention and shared the excellent picnic lunch provided in the church. Mr. Burgess preached a Memorial sermon at Gray's Lake in the evening under the auspices and at the request of the Modern Woodman.
