The birthday celebration of Miss Helen Hill was the occasion of a festive evening on Saturday, August 31. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hill, of 57 Green Bay road, know how to welcome friends and neighbors and judging by the abundant provisions of good things which they supplied to over seventy guests they must have made up their mind to a right royal time for young and old. And they were not disappointed.

We learn from the postmaster that the postoffice authorities are particular about risking the limbs of letter carriers where the sidewalks are bad or where dangerous dogs are kept and that the city must be careful of these things if it would maintain the present free delivery of mail.

An alarm of fire started the people of Highland Park about 9:30 a. m. Wednesday. Considerable volume of black smoke poured out from the north side of the city and much alarm was felt. The first report that seemed to be based on facts was that the old laundry building, in which the Craftsman's Guild are doing business, was on fire, but it turned out that a large kettle of boiling tar, intended for street repair, had been upset and was on fire. No damage was done other than the loss of the tar.

James McDonald celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday recently and David M. Erskine, one of the select guests, told how he tried to raise ducks when as a boy he lived in Waukegan. He found a dozen eggs in a nest in the "slough," took them home, caught an old hen and put her on them, but she was not in a "setting" mood and flew off, when he caught her again and fastened her on the nest where he kept her five weeks, but no ducks appeared, and he broke open one to see how the little ducklings were coming on—when, oh, my! He knew at once where Shakespeare got that expression in Hamlet, "My offense is rank; it smells to heaven."—Lake County Independent.
