

Here he sleeps, when not traveling, out of the noise of London."

A Year's Work and Travel.

From the London Mail's article we learn that last year, ending June, 1907, General Booth addressed "about 300 indoor gatherings and countless meetings in the open air. At each of these assemblies he has been the one outstanding figure, the center of emotion and enthusiasm. His public addresses have averaged over one a day. Most orators think that a speech to a great assembly is in itself an exhausting day's task, only rarely to be undertaken.

"He has written and published in the year something like 200,000 words. Even while on his way home from Japan he has dictated 30,000 words of a book.

"He has traveled over 35,500 miles by land and sea, including a motor tour of 1,500 miles within the year.

"He has been received by the King and Queen of Denmark, the King of Norway, the Queen of Sweden, and the Emperor of Japan. Eminent men of all kinds have conferred with him, from imperial statesmen to Japanese commanders. He has also had the daily supervision of his Army, the task which claims his first attention. No movement of any importance takes place among Salvationists in any part of the world without his first being consulted and his consent secured. He still guides his soldiers from New Zealand to Iceland."
