"GET MONEY'S WORTH"—JOHN D. "Look About You and Be Cautious," Advises Rockefeller. John D. Rockefeller, enjoying in excellent health and spirits: his sixtieth birthday, advised a reporter to be careful and cautious in all business matters. "Look about you," he said. "See that you get your money's worth. If you don't—" "John Sullivan of Cleveland was proud of his reputation for generosity. Everybody sought his patronage—tailors, grocers, tobaccoists, and so forth—and this delighted John. "But one day at his tailor's he overheard something that gave him food for thought. He had been trying on some golf trousers, and was still in the dressing room, but the tailor thought him gone. "What shall I charge Mr. Sullivan for these golf trousers?" John heard the clerk ask. "Eight dollars a pair, the same as our other patrons?" "Sullivan," said the tailor, in a tone at once thoughtful and enthusiastic, "is a good customer. He always pays up promptly. He never haggles. Charge him $12."

Well Answered. The captain of a schooner that trades between New York and Savannah is noted for his wit, declares the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and on every occasion that offers he loses his shafts of humor, to the chagrin and embarrassment of its target. Sooner or later the stinger gets stung, and this chronic pun artist is no exception to the rule. On one occasion, when about two days out from New York, he approached a group of sailors who were washing the forward deck, and singling out a big, raw-boned Irishman who was experiencing his first taste of sailor's life, he gravely asked: "Can you steer the main mast down the fore-castle stairs?" Quick as a flash came the reply: "Yis, sor; I can, if you will stand below and coil it up."

Eating and Drinking. It is estimated that a canary bird eats annually 23 1/4 times its weight in seeds, etc. Don't you believe it? Certainly. Believe anything, commands the New York Press. Take it on trust. What does man do? The English and French army and navy tests show that the food, water and air which a man receives amount in the aggregate to more than 3,000 pounds a year; that is, to about a ton and a half, or more than 20 times his weight. The tests for men are actual; those for birds are all guess. A canary bird wastes a great deal more than it eats. Soldiers and sailors are not allowed to indulge in this diversion.

A Cowboy's Breakfast. T. R. Sweet, a Topeka capitalist, stopped at Abilene in the early days at the best hotel in the city, relates the Kansas City Journal. He asked for his breakfast. The waiters took no special notice of his appearance, or at least did not guess that his appetite was different from the average patron's. "Give me some eggs," said Mr. Sweet, and waited. In a little while the waitress came back. In a bowl she had a full dozen eggs, all hard boiled. Sweet gaped and ate what he could, protesting that she had brought him too many and that he didn't just know how hard boiled eggs would strike him for his first meal of the day. "Why, that's a regular cowboy's breakfast," responded the waitress.

Retributive Justice. A case of retributive justice, as far as it goes, is reported from Paris. An attendant at the Andra hospital, where physiological investigations are being made, discovered that a dozen rabbits had been stolen from their hutches. The loss of the rabbits themselves was not a source of trouble to the authorities, but the fact that they had been inoculated with various germs had a disturbing effect. It is known that the rabbits had all been inoculated, and several of them were tuberculous or typhoid subjects. The police lost no time in warning the thieves of the dangerous nature of their "swag," but none of the rabbits was returned.

How He Died. Gov. Hughes seldom enlivens his public addresses by relating amusing incidents, but at the Green county fair recently he relaxed. He was inspecting, he said, by the aid of the principal, the school in a small town. After visiting the gymnasium, swimming pool, and auditorium, they entered the history class room. An oral examination was evidently in progress. "Thomas," said the teacher, "did Martin Luther die a natural death?" "No, ma'am," was the prompt reply, "he was excommunicated by a bull."

Underground Rivers in Australia. There are comparatively few rivers of any size or importance in Australia, and a local learned professor of science has been explaining the reason. In consequence of the geological formation of the commonwealth most of its rivers are at present imprisoned subterranean streams. He declares that one of these underground rivers is the largest in the world, being no less than 200 miles wide and running right through the center of the continent. If these vast supplies of subterranean waters were brought to the surface and properly utilized Australia would become the richest country in the world.

Women in War Time. Miss Ethel Everest is an English woman who thinks the time is ripe for the splendid young women of her country to show their patriotism by going into the army. But some one reminds her that the world has outgrown the amazon and that, should the enemy shoot down a woman, the brothers and husbands who allowed her to be shot down would have a hard time explaining. Women are needed in war, but only to smooth the pillows and make lint bandages for the men who do the fighting.

A Matchmaking College. According to president Albert S. Hill of Lebanon University, Ohio, the influence of that institution, since it was founded 52 years ago, has resulted in 10,000 weddings. It is a coeducational school, and Dr. Hill, who has strong faith in the system, says: "We believe that five women will humanize at least a hundred men." The institution, which is quite a flourishing one, has been conducted for its more than a half a century of existence on the principles laid down by its founder, Alfred Holbrook—Leslie's Weekly.

Not the Reason. "Perhaps," dolefully suggested the rejected suitor, "your refusal of me was prompted merely by the fact that I am a vegetarian." "Your inference is quite erroneous," replied the Boston girl. "As a matter of fact I invariably prefer herbivorous to carnivorous animals."

Of Two Evils. "Benedic's wife came for him at the club last night," said Gailey. "Wasn't that humiliating?" "Well," replied Owlett, "I don't know whether it's worse for your wife to come for you at the club or go for you after you've got home from the club."

Official Refutation. Church—I see the receipts of the Manhattan postoffice are now amounting to $54,370 each day that it is open. Gotham—Who says the New York man never mails his wife's letters?

Virtue Buttons. The five buttons on the coats of businessmen are intended to remind them of the five chief moral virtues which Confucius recommended. These are—Humanity, justice, order, rectitude and prudence.

Then It Costs Time. "Well, he's always a gentleman, at any rate." "Yes, that's his trouble. He's too polite for his own good." "But, my dear sir, is it possible for anyone to be too polite?" "Why, that man is even polite to Borem when he meets him."

Don't be a knocker. Beware of the honey-mouthed people. To be loyal is a trait of true nobility. Go and get a new grip on yourself and take your bearings.

Half the misery of man is due to the reckless use of words. Good advertising is to business what sunshine is to flowers. Doing good is the only certainly happy action of a man's life.

Work is not man's punishment. It is his reward, his glory and his pleasure. Be kind and generous to those who hold the ladder on which you climb to fame and fortune.

If you are wearing and sickening with overwork and over worry, the chances are the trouble is not in the work, but in you. Stop it, before it stops you. Change of scene or circumstance is not a cure-all. The man who is always complaining of bad neighbors might find in himself the magnet that attracts them. The essential grievance which is always popping up to plague us wherever we go is the one we carry with us. No wonder we cannot escape it.

ROUND GLOBE IN AIRSHIP. Thomas A. Edison now declares that "within five years airships will be carrying passengers across the ocean in eighteen hours at the rate of 200 miles an hour. The north pole will be reached in a forty-eight-hour trip. The perfected helicopter will be able to circle the globe in a week." Will Mr. Edison now tell us how long it will take us to visit the planet Mars? We would like to send a reporter over there to give us some account of the politics of the people of that region.

NOT AN ICE BOX. "Men get enthusiastic over golf and base ball and business. Why should we not get a little enthusiasm and interest into our religion? We do not want ice in the pulpit. Everybody admits that. But we do not want refrigerators in the pews, either. We must have zeal and enthusiasm if we are to be used of God in saving souls." "Religion is not a lifeboat into which we climb in order to be saved. It is rather a life saving station, where each one who is taken in helps man the lifeboat to go out and help others."

That so artistic and eminently enjoyable an article as a souvenir post card should be abused is incomprehensible, yet almost daily one reads that the police authorities arrest this or that dealer for displaying and selling cards that violate every principle of decency.

There may be some boys who would care to fill the Presidential chair. But boys that ARE boys, mostly dream They're pitcher on the winning team.

Yes, that's the boy of it, all right. By and by, he'll wake up and get to hustling, same as we do. Of course you are interested in baseball news, but you don't forget the important question of what kind of Laundry Work is best. There is just one answer—ours! Not the Least Superstitious.—Old Gentleman: "Do you know you are the thirteenth beggar who has pestered me for money to-day?" Beggar: "That's all right. I ain't superstitious."

A Simple Explanation.—"Effie," said Margie, who was laboriously spelling words from a first reader, "how can I tell which is a 'd' and which is a 'b'?" "Why," replied Effie, wisely, "the 'd' has its tummy on its back."

So Obvious.—"And what, Ferdinand," asked the Sunday school teacher, "caused the Flood?" Ferdinand proved that he had come to the right man for information on that topic. "Please, teacher," he replied, "it rained."

The Absent-Minded One.—"Professor's Wife: "You haven't kissed me for a week." Professor (absently): "Are you sure? Then who is it I've been kissing?"

She Knew Him Well.—A farmer once said to his wife, "Do you know what I'd have done if I had been Napoleon Bonaparte?" "Yes," the woman answered, "you'd have settled down in Corsica and spent your life grumbling about bad luck and hard times."

Whose keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soul from troubles.

True politeness consists in being easy one's self, and in making every body about one, as easy as one can.
