In Nature's Mirror

By Byron Williams

I waited long beside the stream
A-tryst for Phyllis, fair and sweet.
At last she came adown the path
Like sunshine racing, soft and fleet.

Upon the bridge she stopped and cried,
"I did not know I was so late!
What is it sparkles way down there?
Oh, mercy, is my hat on straight?"

"The gems that sparkle there," I said,
"Are stars of most entrancing hue
That lure my heart to realms of love
And lead me onward, dear, to you!"

And as we peered across the rail,
My arm stole round a blushing prize,
For what she saw within the stream
Was just her own black, dancing eyes!

WISE AND WEATHERWISE.

"I want to buy a half dozen umbrellas."

"What do you want so many for?"

"I have five places where I must stop this morning, and I want to have things so fixed that when I forget an umbrella at each place I shall still have one left."—Harper's Weekly.

WOMEN IN BUSINESS.

According to the latest reports there are but two professions that the persistent American woman has failed to enter. She has not as yet got in the marine corps or the rank of sailors, nor are there any female telephone or telegraph linemen. There are said to be 1,041 women architects, 3,373 clergymen, 786 dentists, 409 electricians, 84 engineers, 2,196 journalists, 1,010 lawyers, 327,614 teachers, 74,813 book-keepers, 85,246 clerks, 946 commercial travelers, 1,207 officials in banks, 3,433 manufacturers, 19,998 packers and shippers, 86,118 stenographers, 22,556 telegraph operators, 323 undertakers, 545 carpenters, 167 masons, 1,750 painters and glaziers, 126 plumbers, 1,309 miners and 133 blacksmiths.

IF I WERE A MAN.

Mme. Albani, the famous singer, has published an article entitled "If I Were a Man," in a Berlin journal. In it she says:

"If I were a man I would rarely, perhaps never, become annoyed over a trifle. I could not scold if, for instance, a dish were served not quite as I was accustomed. I would not allow my temper to be spoiled for the rest of the day because I had to exercise a little patience. I would not behave like an angry child because a window was shut that I wished to have open. I would not work myself up into a nervous condition because for the moment everything had not gone exactly right."

MIGHT BE WORSE.

Together they were seated on the shifting sands by the sad sea waves—his arm about her waist.

"Do you like this place?" he asked.

"Well, I can't say that I am stuck on the place," she replied, as she nestled a little closer to his person, "but I certainly do enjoy the surroundings."

Whereupon he proceeded to expand her enjoyment by slightly contracting the surroundings.

Who is the sunshine man?
