The M. E. Church (English) began a series of meetings Thursday evening to continue three weeks—Saturday nights excepted. Mr. Walker, the pastor, has done a great deal of good for the church and it is hoped many new members will be added to the church name list.

Mr. P. G. Cox, formerly employed by our druggist, Julius Laegeler, was a visitor from Ft. Harrison. Mr. Cox expects to be transferred to Ft. Sheridan the latter part of January.

Miss Collins was unfortunate enough to lose her watch—it is hoped some one will see her ad in the paper and return it to her for the reward offered.

Mrs. B. O. Fritsch entertained the family from Prairie View over Christmas and the Smith family of Evanston over Sunday.

HIGHWOOD SCHOOL NOTES.

A report from all the grades for the month of December, as to deportment and application, shows up well for the school, as a great many of the scholars find themselves on the list of merit. Space will not permit the publication of the names at this time.

The first grade had a large program on Wednesday, December 23rd, at 2 o'clock, and it was enjoyed by all present. There were forty-three numbers on the program, and Santa Claus had a great many nice things said about him.

The Deerfield High school defeated the strong North Division five on Wednesday evening at the High school by the score of 46-18. Greenslade starred as usual. The High school meets the strong Townsend Harris Hall champions of New York tonight at the High school.

The Success Club is living up to its name, and reports a very successful meeting on Wednesday afternoon. The club is conducted under parliamentary rules, and the boys and girls are learning the use of these rules. A very entertaining program was rendered.

The school is doing good work, and the citizens of Highwood are to be congratulated on the efficient corps of teachers.

THE HOUSE DOG.

The Canis Familiaris, A scientific name: Although all covered with hair is The house dog just the same.

For every game his taste is strong; He's up for any sport, And while his coat is sometimes long, His pants are always short.

In stirring tales no greater wag Can anywhere be found; He's full of fleas which bite and nag Him all the year around.

He tries to laugh, or rather talk, When it's a better term; His tail is like an old man's walk, Because it is infirm.

In politics he takes a part, Dogmatically sound; A strong protectionist at heart, He always has been found.

Yet wants free trade, in bones of beef, For which he'll whine and beg, But tariff, should he catch a thief, By the trousers' leg.

He howls at night, when loose or tied, In moonshine or in dark; To stop his noise you'd tan his hide, And strip him of his bark. —T. H. Spencer.

Four Rules of Life.

First: If possible, be well and have a good appetite. If these conditions are yours, the battle is already half won. Many soul and heart troubles arise really in the stomach, though it may seem strange to you.

Second: Be busy. Fill the hours so full of useful and interesting work that there shall be no time for dwelling on your trouble, that the day shall dawn full of expectation, the night fall full of repose.

Third: Forget yourself; you never will be happy if your thoughts constantly dwell upon yourself, your own perfection, your shortcomings, what people think of you, and so on.

Fourth: Trust in God. Believe that God is, that He really knows what is best for you; believe this truly, and the bitterness is gone from life.—The Arrow.

Very Reassuring.

Once Sir Henry Irving, while playing "Macbeth" in London, was somewhat disconcerted by one of the gallery "gods." He had reached that dramatic point where Macbeth orders Banquo's ghost to leave the banquet board. "Hence, horrible shadow, unreal mockery, hence!" exclaimed Irving, in his most tragic tones, and with a convulsive shudder sank to the ground, drawing his robe close about his face. Just as Banquo withdrew, an agitated Cockney voice from high up in the gallery piped out as if to reassure Irving: "It's all right now, 'Enery: 'e's gone!"

Organic Disease.

"Your husband does not seem to have any organic trouble," said the doctor.

"Oh, no," said the wife, "not in this neighborhood. But the folks that live next door to us have a phonograph that worries him nearly to death."

Keeps Heat "Just Right" Both Day and Night

The Jewell Controller with Time Clock attachment

This "boss" of the heating plant looks after your comfort, stands guard over your coal bin and safeguards the family from colds due to uneven temperature in the home.

is the only device that automatically provides for a higher temperature in the morning without losing thermostatic control through the night.

For example: Suppose you want to reduce the temperature of the house to 60 degrees during the night, but would like to have it at 70 degrees by the time the family arises. Before retiring, you set the controller to 60 degrees. Then you set the time clock attachment to bring the temperature up to 70 at seven o'clock.

In spite of any sudden changes out-doors during the night, the Controller will maintain the temperature you wish, and the faithful clock will open the drafts in time to give you the desired warmth in the morning.

And then all day the Controller goes right on keeping your house warmed "just right."

It is adapted for use with steam, hot water or hot air. Why not unload your heating worries on the "Jewell" and save money too? Investigate this wonderful device. Shown and sold by
