BOY'S CLUB REPRESENTED.

Mr. L. Trowbridge, Field Secretary of the Chicago Boy's Club, spoke briefly last Sunday in the Presbyterian church. He told how the Boy's Club had grown during the eight years of its history from one room and three boys to three large buildings and a membership of over 1200 children of the street.

The headquarters are located at 262 State street, opposite Rothschild's store, another building for the boys is located at 188 Gault court, in the heart of the notorious "Little Hell" district, and a Trade School for the girls is located at 330 E. Division street.

The purpose of this Institution is to keep the boys off the street, prevent them from growing up in crime, and train them for a life work. The boys are taught carpentering, printing, shoe-cobbling, basket-weaving, free hand and mechanical drawing, the girls are taught sewing, dressmaking, millinery, etc. Besides the industrial classes, both the boys and girls are given religious instruction in a large Sunday School and in Gospel meetings.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY.

Mr. O. B. Brand our City Photographer found himself surrounded by many friends Monday evening, to celebrate his birthday. Every one came dressed as children and such a crowd of old youngsters probably never was seen before in Highland Park. Wrinkles of care were chased away by sunny smiles of childhood. The old school house was brought back from memory and made a reality.

Mr. Brand made a typical country school teacher of the old type, and he had a time trying to keep his school in order. The professor who sat on a bent pin rose and spoke to the point.

When school was dismissed the dear children all sat down to a bountiful spread and it was not until next morning that they awoke and found out they had taken too much of the good things of the night before. When the company disbanded and donned their grown up clothes they all declared that it had been a great time, and that they would at least try to keep the childhood smile which the occasion inspired.

The readers of this item are invited to call at Mrs. Bohl's store, and inspect the Hoozier special Kitchen Cabinet, as advertised on page 63 of the April issue of The Ladies Home Journal.

A SATISFACTORY VERDICT.

In the matter of opening and widening of West Park avenue from Green Bay road to the city limits, the case was tried on Monday, the 22nd inst., before Judge Smiley and a jury at Waukegan. It was a hotly contested case. The objecting property owners were represented by Mr. E. S. Gail and the city by attorney Mason. The trial lasted from 10 a. m. until 6:30 p. m. The jury then took a recess for supper and received its instructions from Judge Smiley at 7:30 p. m. At 11:30 p. m., when the lawyers and litigants left on the last car for Highland Park the jury was still deliberating on its verdict. By direction of the court the verdict was received by the clerk and sealed and Tuesday morning it was opened and read by the court.

The jury increased the damages to be paid by the city for property taken, and assessed certain amounts for benefits to the property not taken.

It is believed the verdict is satisfactory to all parties. The city will now proceed to open the street.

Dramatic Notes

THE Class of 1910 Northwestern University annual play:—The Junior class of the Northwestern University are making big preparations for the presentation of "Esmeralda" at Ravinia Theater next Saturday night. The Junior play is one of the big events of the school year. As Northwestern is essentially a University of the North Shore, the Junior play should prove of great interest to the North Shore people whom experience has shown always enjoy only high class productions. Manager L. Hote told a representative of the North Shore News-Letter that this year's production would surpass all in staging and general effectiveness.

"Esmeralda" is by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnette and Wm. Gillette. It was first produced in New York where it enjoyed a run of over 300 nights. A specially picked cast under the personal direction of Mr. Marshall Stedman of the Chicago Musical College, will present the play.

Rehearsals are now in progress and all signs point to a banner production next Saturday. A review of the play is deferred till the Saturday following its production.

Whitney Opera House:—"The Boy and the Girl" the new musical comedy offered at the Whitney Opera House is a bright, refreshing and offervescant attraction with many unique features to commend it to the people of Chicago and vicinity. The book of this piece is by Richard Carlo who has given the stage some of the best entertainments ever written in America. The play is in two acts and there are so many brilliant song novelties, and so many humorous situations, that a plot is not at all necessary, and would in fact, be lost in the general array of good things in the bill. The piece is meeting with great enthusiasm, and the usual matinees are given on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.
