

Writers of melodrama no doubt view the invention of the noiseless gun with alarm.

There is quite a crop of men who "look like Lincoln," but there the resemblance stops.

An exchange says we are threatened with an orange war. Navel battle, eh?

A Chicago man killed himself because he had gray hairs—and lacked gray matter, we should add.

The Wisconsin professor who says that all children are liars must have disagreeable neighbors.

If vaudeville in airships really is introduced the business of star gazing should take on considerable impetus.

Now they are using rope ladders in New York to effect burglaries. What are romantic eiders going to do?

A Duluth minister has invented an anti-swear stovepipe. But why should ministers feel the need of such inventions?

Admiral Evans' statement that our big guns are the best in the world does not refer to our politicians, however.

The value of the fish and other aquatic products annually taken from the sea surrounding Japan is over $50,000,000.

Many a bachelor would willingly pay a two-dollar tax if he could have any guarantee that he would remain so.

Nebraska hotel keepers are now compelled by statute to provide "nine foot bedsheets." But they can recoup themselves by shortening the grub.

Another whale of a warship for England. Is she arranging to make an escape for her people by water in event of a land invasion?

Now we hear of a Connecticut girl who forgets her name. Chance for some good fellow to give her a new one.

Inducements are being offered to have Kentucky raise "Turkish" tobacco. How will the night-riders dress?

There is a movement on foot in Ireland to induce the Irish to remain at home. The best way is to fix it so they can make as good a living there as elsewhere.

The Washington Herald says the tailors have decided to abolish freak clothes. Then, for goodness' sake, how are we to distinguish the college boys?

Does the fact that there are more than 100,000 bachelors in Texas prove that Texas girls are getting more critical or that the bachelors are getting wiser?

It is hoped this famous "uplift" proposition will do something effective about the annual shortage of farm hands at crop time. That would be an "uplift" worth while.

A great demand for Jules Verne's books in Chinese is said to have developed in the orient. The translators should be careful to give the celestials a good definition of the word fiction.

Charles Lamb said that a lie was an intellectual evasion. The trouble in these days is that a good many politicians and office-holders overlook the intellectual feature.

A speaker recently said that the country boy is the hope of the American nation. That has always been the opinion of the lad himself, whence his feeling of superiority to the city-bred person.

Correspondence schools have many ramifications. One is now advertised in England to secure for its subscribers friends and friendships. Supplemented by the telephone and the telegraphic photograph, it ought to succeed.

American warships were calling at 25 ports in different parts of the world last month. British, Italian, French, Greek, Turkish, Franco-Algerian, Nicaraguan, Chilean and Venezuelan officers were greeting the American naval commanders at the same time, while other American commanders had their ships in Chinese waters and in the West Indies. This was the time when the sun found it difficult to set on the American flag.

The consumption of 40,000 packets of cigarettes a month is no uncommon thing in a regiment. And if the regiment is 1,000 strong the consumption reaches more like 80,000 packets a month. "The Englishman's Home," was the extraordinary statement made by a lieutenant of the British army the other night in London at a gathering of Dover Boy Scouts. If this is fact, some things that have been said in the successful play, "The Englishman's Home," may be accounted for. Cigarette fiends cannot make good soldiers, everyone
