

ILLINOIS NEWS TERSELY TOLD

Aurora.—The culmination of the bitterest newspaper war urged against Senator Hopkins for the last several years was reached when the Aurora Beacon started libel suits against the Daily News on six charges asking damages in the sum of $250,000.

Lincoln.—The members of the G. A. R. of this city, discouraged at the apparent lack of co-operation in their efforts to instill patriotism into the minds of the school children, have given up the practice of holding patriotic services at the schools Decoration day.

Bath.—An attempt was made to rob the Merchants' and Farmers' bank of Bath. The robbers stole tools from a railroad section house and broke down the doors of the bank, and had used four charges of nitroglycerin and succeeded in getting through the large vault when they were discovered by J. O'Leary, a mail carrier and frightened away, without securing any booty.

Kewanee.—Representatives of seven cities organized the Illinois League of Poultry Associations with the following officers: President, John H. Oliver, Kewanee; vice-president, F. Nessell, Bushnell; secretary, F. C. Hare, Quincy; treasurer, H. Peace, Princeton. The object of the league is to promote interests of the annual poultry shows.

Polo.—Lieut. D. H. Waterbury of Polo died of pneumonia and was buried from the Methodist church. The funeral was in charge of Polo Post No. 84. Mr. Waterbury was born February 17, 1838, in Beaver Hill, county of Sullivan, New York. He came to Illinois with his parents in 1851 and located in Polo.

Rockford.—Charles F. Sanderholm was rescued from a mob and saved from summary vengeance following his visit to the home of his wife, from whom he is separated, and shooting her twice, though not fatally. A hundred men gathered about Sanderholm and threatened violence until the police arrived to protect him.

Lincoln.—The elements overtook Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, and he was delayed in this city, owing to an indisposition, apparently coming on him suddenly. He is now two days behind his plans, although not that much behind his original schedule. He left here for Springfield.

Havana.—The epidemic of crime which caused much excitement through the robbing of several stores in Havana, also the post office and the blowing open of the safe in the Farmers' and Merchants' bank at Bath, spread until the perpetrators of evil deeds have now taken to highway robbery.

Arrowsmith.—The State bank of Arrowsmith was burglarized and the yegmen got away with booty consisting of $2,200. The shot awoke several parties rooming near the bank building and they notified the telephone operator to give a general alarm.

Shelbyville.—Raymond Austin, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Austin, was knocked down and decapitated by a C. & E. I. engine on a side-track while on his way to the depot to get a bundle of papers of which he was distributor.

Peoria.—Lying in a patch of timber near the grounds of the Illinois Hospital for the Incurable Insane at South Bartonville, the body of Frank Rath, one of the patients, was found by a searching party. He had wandered away from the asylum.

Sterling.—The annual convention of the Knights of Pythias of the Nineteenth Illinois district held their session here with 300 delegates present. Washington, D. C.—Among the nominations made by President Taft for citizens to be first lieutenants was the name of Lewis Linn of Illinois.

STATE HAPPENINGS

Mount Carmel.—"Lib" Lucas, keeper of a river front dive, and her son, Jesse, were found guilty by a jury of the murder of Clyde Showalter, a young farmer, who had come to town with a large roll of bills to "have a good time," and whose body was found in the river. Mother and son were sentenced to life imprisonment. The municipal election occurred in the course of the trial and the community was treated to the unusual spectacle of a deputy sheriff taking a prisoner accused of murder to the polls. The officer entered the booth with Lucas while he marked his ballot.

Jacksonville.—George W. Stanley of Pleasant Hill, Pike county, committed suicide here at the Central Hospital for the insane by hanging himself to the transom of his room. He was missed at the supper hour and a search was made of his room, where he was found. He had made a rope of twine, using the wash stand to reach the transom. He was 59 years of age.

Aurora.—James Prindeville, special agent for the Great Western railway, fatally shot an unidentified train robber after a pistol fight with a trio of robbers on a west-bound freight train out of Chicago. Two of the robbers escaped. The man who was shot died at St. Charles after he confessed having participated in two Great Western robberies.

Bloomington.—Lawrence Behnke, a boy, suffered an epileptic fit on the tracks of the Illinois Central railroad and before he could be rescued was run over and literally cut to pieces by an Illinois Central train. Persons saw him fall, but before they could drag him from the track the wheels of the engine had passed over his body.

Kenney.—Miss Bertha Lahr of Kenney has just selected her 160 acres of land which she drew in the Rosebud reservation drawing last fall. Her farm lies five miles west of Wenona, S. D., and is said to be one of the choice tracts. Miss Lahr is a daughter of David Lahr, a well-known farmer of this vicinity.

Virginia.—The suit of E. B. Conover to detach his property from the limits of the city of Virginia has been decided in his favor, Judge Williams holding that proper measures had not been taken by the city to annex the territory including the Conover residence. The April term of the circuit court has adjourned.

Springfield.—After several hours' rest and sleep, Edward Payson Weston, the pedestrian, with swinging stride and easy elastic step, left this city. Weston arrived here on schedule. He was met by several enthusiasts and after a light repast delivered an address.

Springfield.—Gov. Deneen issued a requisition for the return of Edward DeJanes, a convict in the Missouri state penitentiary, who is to be released May 10. DeJanes is wanted in Hancock to answer a charge of horse stealing, said to have been committed in 1906.

Chicago.—Leo Marks, a pawnbroker at 3002 State street, committed suicide in the rear of his store by shooting himself in the head. He left a note to his wife. He explained he was suffering from insomnia and that he could endure the nervous torture no longer.

Chicago.—Posing as the Beau Brummel of the United States secret service, and termed the "affinity broker," Charles E. O'Connor confessed to having victimized widows in every large city throughout the country, and is anxious to be sentenced.

Springfield.—Edward Stith, while removing from one farm to another near Havana, was thrown from his wagon and killed when the team ran away. His wife and child probably were fatally injured.

Sterling.—Charles A. Hamilton, sheriff of Whiteside county, treasurer of the Illinois Sheriffs' association, died at a sanitarium at Lincoln, Neb., aged 51 years. Prominent Mason and politician.

Summit.—John Hahnowitz, 24 years old, died of a fractured skull. According to the Cicero police he was injured in a fight with a fellow-workman, Matthew Frugo, 23 years old. Frugo was held pending the inquest.

Danville.—James B. Finley, captain of the famous Chicago board of trade battery in the civil war, died of heart disease at the Aetna house. His relatives live in Chicago.

Lincoln.—The board of supervisors met in special session to organize and transact other business. They elected George Wieber of Chester township for chairman of the board. Decatur.—Sheriff McGorray of Decatur returned from Springfield with R. D. Hayden, arrested on a charge of defrauding a hotel keeper in the Macon county city.
