Was a Hen

Little Harry with his sister and brothers was being taught natural history by the governess through the instrumentality of a game.

But little Harry remained, in all the tumult, as still as death. Far off in a corner he crouched, silent and alone.

SMILES

Theology in the Highlands

The minister's class at the kirk of Tobermory had been reading the story of Joseph and his brethren and it came to the turn of the minister to examine the boys.

The replies to all his questions had been quick, intelligent, and correct. Such as:

"What great crime did these sons of Jacob commit?"

"They sold their brother Joseph."

"Quite correct. And for how much?"

"Twenty pieces of silver."

"And what added to the cruelty and wickedness of these bad brothers?"

A pause. "What made their treachery even more detestable and heinous?"

Then a bright little Highlander stretched out an eager hand.

"Well, my man?"

"Please, sir, they sell't him over cheap."—Tit-Bits.

No Doubt

On one occasion an ignorant quack was called by mistake to attend a council of physicians in a critical case.

Percy—I—aw—wrestled foh ovah [an hour with me scarf this morning.

Algernon—Which won the victory, deah boy—you or the scarf?

Percy—Neither. Cawn't you see the match wresuled in a tie? Haw Haw!

Statute of Limitations.

Judge—You are a freeholder? Talesman—Yes, sir; I am. Judge—Married or single? Talesman—Married three years last June.

Competition the Life of Trade.

"As I was idling in the streets one afternoon," a writer in "The New York Tribune" tells the story, "a hawk's cries assailed my ear.

"Here y'are! Box o' paper an' twentyfive envelopes on'y one dime."

"But suddenly his yells were drowned by louder ones, and another hawk, crowding the first out of the way, jostling him rudely, shouted, as he pushed along a bigger truck:

"Five cents—on'y a nickel—box o' paper an' twentyfive envelopes! Only one nickel!"

"The trucks came near colliding. The two men glared at each other. The spirit of competition ran high, and the people, drawn by the shouts, hurried from their houses.

"Finding that the two kinds of paper were identical, the people bought the cheaper sort hungrily. I was amazed to see the business that the nickel man did.

As for the dime man, poor fellow, he shouted on lustily, but it seemed that, the louder he shouted, the more of his rival's stock the people bought.

"Finally the sales ceased. Everybody had bought enough paper to last a year.

"The dime man departed first, and the nickel man left a few minutes later. I followed to see a repetition of the rival sales in the next street.

"The dime man, to my amazement, was waiting around the corner, and, as he piled a lot of his stock on the other's nearly empty truck, I heard him say, with a chuckle, 'It works fine, Bill, don't it?'"

The teacher was describing the dolphin and its habits. "And, children," she said impressively, "a single dolphin will have two thousand offspring."

"Goodness!" gasped a little girl in the back row. "And how about married ones?"—Everybody's Magazine.

Senator Reid Smoot once spoke before a large crowd of Swedes. There was but little applause.

Then still clapping his hands, he leaned over to the chairman of the meeting. "What did he say?" he asked.

"He was interpreting your speech to them," replied the chairman gravely.—Selected.

Lesson in Good Manners

A well-known lawyer is telling a good story about himself and his efforts to correct the manners of his office boy.

"Say, Mr. Blank, there's a ball game down at the park today, and I'm going."

"Now, the attorney is not a hard-hearted man, and was willing the boy should go, but thought he would teach him a little lesson in good manners.

"Jimmie," he said, "that isn't the way to ask a favor. Now, you come over here and sit down, and I'll show you how to do it."

The boy took the office chair and his employer picked up his cap and stepped outside. He then opened the door softly and, holding the cap in his hand, said quietly to the small boy in the big chair:

"Please, sir, there is a ball game at the park today; if you can spare me I would like to get away for the afternoon."

In a flash the boy responded: "Why certainly, Jimmie; and here is 50 cents to pay your way in."—Short Stories.
