SMILES

How Unfair!

The stars are out when I'm in bed.
It's not the least bit fair
To let such little things stay out
All night, alone up there.

Considerate.

Father (calling downstairs)—"Mary just ask your young man if he doesn't think it's pretty near bedtime."
Mary—"Yes, papa, and George says if you're sleepy, go to bed by all means."

One day Elsie's mother sent her to find a switch with which to chastise her little brother, who had been teasing her. After a time she returned with a dozen or more pebbles in her apron.

"I couldn't find any switch, mamma," she explained, "but you can throw these rocks at him."

Minute Economy.

"Doesn't it make you indignant to get coal bills?" asks the man with the lawn mower.

"No," answered the man with the garden hose. "I try to arrange it so that they will send me as many bills as possible. It's true a sheet of paper and an envelope isn't much, but every little helps in the fuel way."—Washington Star.

The Reason.

"Who do they say that marriages are made in heaven?"
"I suppose it is because every man thinks that he has married an angel."

Not Up to Him.

Workman—"I've gotten married, sir, and I'd like you to raise my wages."
Employer—"Very sorry for you but I'm only responsible for accidents that occur in the works."

Naggsby—Griggs told me to-day that his wife had never spoken a cross word to him during their ten years of married life.

Mrs. Naggsby—Poor woman! Has she been a deaf-mute all her life?

"Why do you think he loves you; has he said anything?"
"Oh, no! But you should see the way in which he looks at me when I'm not looking at him."

"Hey, paw!"

"Well, what now?"

"When a person is out of his head, how does he git back in?"

An old gentleman was playing with his little granddaughter one day, when she noticed that most of his hair was missing.
"Grandpa" she queried earnestly, "why don't you wear a switch?"

Counted Out.

Mother—"I'll warrant you did not count a hundred."

Boy—"N—no! W'en he had hit me twenty-seven times his arm give out."

Still Valuable.

Johnnie—"Father, when a hen sits on an egg for three weeks and it don't hatch is the egg spoiled?"

Father—"As an article of diet, my son it is henceforth a failure, but for theatrical purposes it has its uses."

The Truth at Last.

"Oh, doctor, is it very dangerous to swallow cement?"

"Very dangerous indeed."

"And gutta percha, doctor?"

"Very serious."

"And porcelain—oh doctor, is it very poisonous?"

"Excuse me, madam; have you attempted suicide?"

"No; I've swallowed one of my false teeth."—Pearson's Weekly.

"You are altogether too fresh," said the potato to the egg, and I have my eyes on you." Now, look here, Irish," said the egg. "I dare say you have a good heart, but remember that when we come to scramble for a living you're not in it with me."

His Way

Gladys Beautigirl—He kissed me at the door, but promised not to tell.

Dolly Swift—And of course—?

Gladys Beautigirl—Oh, he repeated it before he left.—Puck.

Lost

"What do you suppose Roosevelt will say to the rival arctic explorers?"

"He will probably ask them first of all if they saw any traces of a digdig."—Houston Post.

Might Make a Deal.

"Excuse me, ma'am," said the man at the door, "but I'm a dealer in second hand pianos."

"Well, I have a piano," said the woman. "And if I didn't have one, I wouldn't buy a second hand one."

"I know," continued the man, "but the man next door said he hoped I could induce you to sell yours."
—Exchange.

Ins and Outs

There was a girl in our town

As gently as a dove;

And one day she met a dapper dude

And at sight fell in love

But when he started into talk

He gave her such a pain

She quickly took a second look—

Then fell right out again.
—Exchange.

Exclusive Rights Held

"Am I now free to go wherever I will?"

asked the bewildered prisoner when the warden handed him a pardon.

"Free to go anywhere except the north pole," the warden replied. "That district is copyrighted."—Kansas City Times.

Between Kids

First Boy—I jest taught me sister ter swim.

Second Boy—How did yer do it? }

First Boy—I pushed 'er in.

Bit and Bridle

The Archbishop of Canterbury was going in with a number of other clergymen to luncheon after some great ecclesiastical function, when an unctuous dignitary observed: "Now to put a bridle on our appetites!"

Quick as lightning the archbishop retorted: "Say, rather, now to put a bit between your teeth."
