Mrs. Benham—I wish you would do me one favor.

Benham—What is it? Mrs. Benham—If you are going to keep on talking in your sleep please don't speak so rapidly.

"And how old are you, little girl?" "Six."

"And how is it you are out walking without your mamma?" "Oh, mamma doesn't go in for exercise. Really, we have very little in common."

Most store teeth look too natural.

Tammany doubtless hopes that any plans for the advancement of Judge Gaynor into national politics may be speedily consummated.

The small streams that feed a river make its mouth water.

Some people's only aim in life is to look for a larger target.

One clock on a shelf is worth more than a dozen on a stocking.

A man isn't necessarily narrow-minded because he lives in a flat. Fate seems to have an ingrowing grudge against the innocent bystander. When it comes to talking, a small woman has her obese sister beaten to a jelly. Just about the time a man reaches the age of discretion people begin to call him grandpa. Lots of men who imagine they could navigate the ship of state couldn't even steer a canal boat. By the time the average man gets through loving himself he has no time for loving his neighbors.

Up in the Air. I should think women would be good aeronauts, by the way. Why not? They're so flighty, don't you know? —Winkers Statesman.

As in Laundries. California woman, in training a new Chinese servant to wait on the door, had her daughter ring the bell and present her card. Next afternoon a friend called and handed her card to the Celestia who pulled out of his sleeve the daughter of the house had presented the afternoon before and carefully compared the two. "Tickee no muchee," he exclaimed, handing back the visitor's card. "No can come in."

Discovered. I went to the wedding to see that injured Paris gown her folks told the rest of the bride was going to wear. Who gave her away? Nobody had to. The cut and fit of the gown itself gave her away. —Baltimore American.

Friend—You ought to look after that cold of yours. A neglected cold often leads to serious consequences. Young Millionaire—This one is not neglected. In fact, 400 or 500 of my friends are thinking about it.

With 23 years to his credit, Commander Peary breaks the leave-of-absence record.
