LAUREL AVENUE VIADUCT.

There is a rumor, and it comes to us from a reliable source, that the C. & N. W. Ry. intend soon to deepen and widen the viaduct under their tracks at Laurel avenue. This will certainly be a great improvement if properly done, and the C. & N. W. Ry when they make improvements, have a habit of making them in first class shape. It will be a pity if at the same time the C. & M. Electric Company do not also raise the normal fibre of our people, is their tracks and once for all do to be controlled. > How are we to regard the crimes of these men of wealth and education? Their offense, whatever it may be in the eyes of the law, is morally worse than that of the poor wretch who filches a pocketbook or plunders a house. The vulgar thief who steals a few dollars or the starving man who snatches a loaf of bread, is prosecuted vigorously and receives swift punishment, while the rich criminal too often goes unwhipped of justice, although guilty of tar graver of-

With the appalling evidence before us of the increase of graft on all sides, it becomes a vital question how this great national crime, which threatens to destroy wealth, not character, is now the universal goal of effort. Bribery
