SMASH-UP IN RUNAWAY

Highland Park Policeman Has Narrow Escape From Injury.

Policeman Frank Reetenwald of Highland Park narrowly escaped being injured in an attempt to stop a runaway horse on St. John's avenue, near Central avenue, Tuesday afternoon. The horse is owned by C. N. Kimball of Green Bay road. More than two hundred persons witnessed the animal's flight. At Central avenue Policeman Reetenwald made an effort to catch the reins. The horse swerved to one side and the policeman stepped back just in time to avoid being struck by the wagon. The flight ended when the wagon brought up against a tree near the Northwestern Military Academy and was almost entirely demolished.

$50,000 BOND ISSUE MAY BE HELD INVALID

Charge Made That Election Was Not Given Required Advertising

The Chicago Examiner of the 25th, inst. says the failure to advertise the election for the $50,000 bond issue, recently approved by the voters of our City, for twenty consecutive days prior to the election, as provided by law, will in every probability result in having the whole proceeding declared illegal, it is claimed.

Negotiations for the sale of the bonds have been pending with the Harris Trust & Savings Company for several weeks. The Harris Company promised to buy the bonds and following the successful election all the papers in the matter were forwarded to the firm's bond expert.

The expert detected the irregularity, it is said, and the entire bond issue has been rejected by the Harris Company, it is averred.

The bond issue provided for $36,000 for bridges, $4,000 for a septic tank and $10,000 for a public park west of the C. & N. W. Railroad tracks.

Notice of the election was advertised for twenty days, but it is said that the advertisement appeared for two weeks, then it was discontinued and inserted the following week. This, according to the law, makes the election which authorized the bond issue illegal.

Just what action will be taken by the officials of the town is not known, but it is more than likely that a special election will be authorized by the city council and the law regarding elections for this purpose complied with.

COMMUNIGATION.

Editor, North Shore News Letter.

Sir: In your issue of May 21st, appeared an article headed "Ravine Avenue Improvement," which treats largely on the subject of special assessments for street improvements, and asks whether general public should not pay part of the cost of such improvements and then states:

"Unfortunately, Highland Park did not commence that way, and now those who have paid for the improvements in front of their property will naturally think it a hardship if they are called to help others. But a little reflection, and we shall see that the streets first improved in Highland Park are now nearly vacant. If we mistake not, a move is on foot to repave the street, first improved by macadam in the city. If we are correct then they too would receive help. The whole town have helped to wear out their street."

The fact is that when Prospect and Laurel avenues were paved, (they were the first streets paved not only in Highland Park but Lake County), the property holders were assessed for the entire cost of the street, including the street intersections, and excepting only the frontage on Hazel Park, which was levied against the city.

Since that time however, the city has been assessed not only for all the street intersections, but also for a large amount of public benefits where the lots were shallow, and the frontage of unequal value, as well as for fills, retaining walls and other purposes. Instead of the city not having paid anything for public benefits it is now loaded down with assessments for public benefits, to the extent that it is a heavy annual drain against the taxing capacity of the city, and very much to the detriment of other departments of the city that need liberal expenditures, but must be neglected or economized on by reason of this special assessment drain.

Prospect and Laurel avenues were practically rebuilt last year, and the property holders again were assessed for the same, but this time the street intersections, were assessed against the city as public benefits.

Don't let your readers run away with the idea that the property holders fronting on the streets improved are paying for the entire cost of such improvements, as they are not. There has not been a single street improvement made in the city of Highland Park, since it began to pave and macadamize its streets, where the property holders paid the entire cost.

Respectfully yours,
JAMES H. SHIELDS.

HIGHWOOD

Miss Alma Kelley and Jeanne Maris gave a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening at Miss Kelley's in honor of Miss Ellen Davies whose marriage to Robert Pease takes place on June 2nd. The first part of the evening was devoted to a mock wedding. Miss Davies, the bride and Callie Gutzler, groom, Miss Maris, clergyman. After the ceremony the bride was presented with a great many beautiful gifts. The bride's history had been cleverly written by her sister and compiled by Miss Maris, was read by Miss Kelley, to the amusement of the guests. The table was beautifully decorated in sweet peas, a very appropriate flower as the prospective groom's name is Pease. Many clever and interesting toasts were given and the close of the evening came only too soon. Those present were: Misses Lillie Bell, Florence Shelton, Lillian Burgess, Bessie Moore, Mary Park, Ellen Cox, Callie Gutzler, Edith Winter, Maude Collins, May Collins, Mrs. Kelley, Miss DeRoo, Mrs. Lewis Pease, Mrs. C. P. Gall and Ellen Davies the honoree and the hostesses, Miss Kelley and Miss Maris. The many friends were glad to know that Miss Davies' marriage would not take her away from Highwood.

TEN THOUSAND ATTEND WORLD'S S. S. CONVENTION.

Washington Thronged for the Most Cosmopolitan Gathering Ever Held on Continent—5000 Men in Bible Class Procession Down Pennsylvania Ave Congress Adjourns for Parade. President Taft makes Speech

Unprecedented for its cosmopolitanism, unequalled in the magnitude of its constituency, and unsurpassed as a spectacle, the World's Sixth Sunday School Convention in Washington, D. C. May 19-24, marks an event in religious history.

President Taft was not alone in expressing amazement over the size and character of the Convention. He looked out over a sea of 6000 faces on the opening night, while outside the Convention Hall a still larger number of persons congregated, unable to enter. Nearly twenty-five hundred of the official delegates wore red ribbon badges with the legend "North America." Some five hundred others wore blue badges bearing the names of more than fifty different nations, as remote as China and South America, Turkey and Australia.

It was a spectacular Convention. The great Men's Bible Class Parade on the afternoon of May 20 opened the eyes of Washington to the virility and masculinity of modern religion. In order that some members of Congress might march in the parade, as they did, and that others might witness it, Congress adjourned early on the day of the demonstration.

All these marching men belong to the Sunday School, and the thought uppermost in the minds of many of the spectators who lined the sidewalks was expressed on one banner, "Where the men lead the boys will follow."

The demonstration accorded President and Mrs. Taft—whom the former introduced to the cheering throng as "the real President"—stirred the nation's Chief Executive greatly. He declared his belief in the fundamental importance of religious training of the youth of the nation through the Sunday School.

On the closing night of the Convention there was a tableau of seventy-five children reproducing the picture which this Convention has made famous: "The Twentieth Century Crusaders." The children of many nations gathered under the Sunday School flag. At the same time delegates from many lands—Korea, China, India, Japan, Mexico, Brazil, Turkey, etc. gathered on the front of the platform and all sang together to the one tune, but each in his own tongue, one of the familiar Christian hymns that is sung the world around.

$75,000 IN A FEW HOURS.

For the first time in its history the World's Association tried to raise a budget for the expenses of the ensuing triennium. The sum asked for, $75,000.00, was all secured in a few hours. This will be used largely in placing field workers in foreign lands to develop the Sunday School idea and organization. Especially notable among the speeches were those of President Taft, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn; Hon. John Wanamaker, Rev. S. M. Zwemer of Arabia; Bishop J. C. Hartzell, of Africa; Mr. Robert E. Speer, and Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman, Rev. Dr. F. B. Meyer, of London, who presided, had a profound influence upon the Convention. The retiring Chairman of the Executive Committee, Dr. George W. Bailey, was elected President for the next three years, and Mr. E. K. Warren, of Three Oaks, Mich., Executive Chairman.
