HIGHLAND PARK A CITY OF HOMES.

In the beauty of our natural surroundings, and in the growth of her incomparable conveniences and institutions, this city has no peer among Chicago's suburbs. Our city is a mirror in which is reflected Chicago's wealth of resources and prosperity. The city has justly become noted as a suburb of elegant homes, broad acres and charming society, an equalled place of residence, where educational and religious privileges await to whom more material pleasure of environment does not alone appeal. A busy mart of local trade, and as a beautiful and healthful town it has few, if equals. The people of the Park are great extent permanent residents, nearly all own their homes, many of which are truly palatial. As a place of summer residence, our city is widely noted, many Chicago people own and occupy luxurious summer homes. The famous Sheridan road passes through our city. This boulevard is for twenty miles the North Shore considered the finest drive in the world, and is lined along its entire length from Lincoln Park to Sheridan with magnificent residences on spacious ground, which at no point is more worthy than upon that portion of the boulevard within the limits of Highland Park.

Social Clubs

A busy town socially during the season of this social activity is due to the successful clubs and organizations which exist in our city. The most prominent of these, and a molding factor in our social life, is the Highland Park Club which includes in membership all the moving spirits of our city—men who have achieved success in their various callings, and who are fitted to direct the social life of our city. The Highland Park Club house occupies a most suitable and convenient club house on the grounds, elegantly equipped with all the accessories to club life and entertainment.

Real Estate

Real estate is more greatly sought after in our city than anywhere else along the North Shore, so that in the future, as in the past, all judicious investment
