Mr. Miller and family of Chicago, have moved to their beautiful new residence on Sheridan road.

Mrs. Bolan, North Green Bay road, is at present dangerously ill.

Railroad avenue, south of Ava street, to Ravinia Park, should be reopened, which would make a fine drive from our city to Ravinia Park.

The street from Roger Williams avenue past the Ravinia depot south, should be macadamized for a distance of at least 200 feet, this would help to make Ravinia most beautiful. On each side of this street is two small parks, and with this muddy street between the two, is an eye sore.

Stand on the corner of Roger Williams and Judson avenues at Ravinia, look north, east, south and west and you will not see a macadamized street, why is this? Ravinia, one of the most beautiful sections of Highland Park is neglected. What are our alderman doing? We have placed you as officials in this ward to look to our interest, why not do it?

We are waiting for some one to come along and pay their subscription in order that we might employ some one to cut down the weeds in front of the NEWS-LETTER office.

The First United Evangelical church will hold its annual picnic July 21st at the lake front. Every one invited, a good time is anticipated.

Start from Evanston, travel north as far as Waukegan, then let us know whether or not Highland Park surpasses any suburb along the line for beauty, I, for one, claim it does. Nothing in the way of improving our city, is neglected.

The city has purchased a new mowing machine for the purpose of keeping the sides of Sheridan road, and other places clear of the weeds.

The mineral water being distributed among so many of our citizens, is being demanded more and more yearly; for further information inquire of Mr. Tillman.

In making a few purchases at the store of C. H. Warren & Co., one evening last week, I noticed twenty-eight customers awaiting their turn to be waited upon; this looks like business.

Mr. James Watson of Highwood, who has been in the Waukegan hospital for a week or ten days, is again at his home having received but little relief.

* Thanks to the city for clearing the weeds from in front of the NEWS-LETTER office. Visit all the streets of our city, and you will see that Mr. John Hart has not neglected one. This, like all other branches of work has been neatly done, which speaks well under the supervision of Mayor Dooley.

The opening of a vaudeville show in Goldberg's hall on the 16th of July is a new feature to attract the attention of our people. Look out for the NEWS-LETTER as an ad to this effect might appear.

While in the city on the Fourth of July, I took notice of one thing among the sixty or seventy thousand people I saw, there was not one under the influence of liquor.

We wish to call your attention to the new model home bakery and ice cream parlor, 20 West Central avenue where the freshest of bakery goods and cream can be had.

Don't fail to notice the large "ad" on the outside page of this paper. See what the Northwestern Department store has to offer you.

On account of publishing the Assessment role in last week's issue of the NEWS-LETTER, which consisted of fourteen columns, we were compelled to omit all our advertisements for last week, but they will appear weekly from this on; especially that of Mr. Dale Sweetland's, our most popular druggist, and where the most delicious ice cream is to be had.

Should you hear of the death of a child or two near the Ravinia station, don't lay the blame on the Railway Company, but keep your little 4, 5 and 6 year old children off the tracks.

From the way we see people carrying flowers past the NEWS-LETTER office, we judge that Mr. Bahr is doing an extensive business; why not, he is the oldest business man in the nursery line we have in our city.

Mr. H. W. Ferry of Waukegan, was a caller at the NEWS-LETTER office Thursday last.

One Link in the Chain.

When my thought would soar through the boundless space
To the great Beyond, and seek a place
Where everlasting joy awaits
All who enter the pearly gates,
And no note of sadness ever is heard,
It falls back to earth like a wounded bird.

Here—to my sad irretrievable loss,
I refused to take up the proffered cross,
And my earthly home, with its daily task,
Seemed all of Heaven for which I could ask.
But now is closing my life's brief day,
And this beautiful world it is slipping away—
It is slipping away with all that I love;
I have laid up no treasure in Heaven above.

Is there for me in the Book He has given
One message of love from our Father in Heaven?
One link in the chain of the truth divine,
That my faith may grasp and make it mine—
A treasure richer than all earth's gold:
For the chain will hold, the chain will hold.

Groping, I seek for the mercy seat,
I would bow at the Saviour's nail-pierced feet,
Humbly, reverently, kneeling there
I would offer the penitent's simple prayer.
Like the dying thief on Calvary
Whose feeble cry, "Remember me,"
Brings swift relief ere his spirit flies:
"To-day—with me—in Paradise."

The putting of tarvia on the streets may be a good thing to settle the dust, but its very destructive to carriage and one's clothes as the crossings are unprotected and consequently the tar is tracked on the side walks. A SUMMER SCHOOL

We hear enthusiastic reports from the members of a "Union Teacher Training Class," which meets on Tuesday evenings at the Presbyterian church. The class is growing constantly both in members and interest, and very earnest work is being done in the study of Old and New Testament History, the study of the Pupil and Teacher.

There are twenty lessons in the course, four of which have been given. Any one interested in this work as a whole or any part of it, are invited to become members, and visitors are welcomed at any time.

A number of representative Highland Park women gathered upon the Elm Place school grounds on Monday afternoon to listen to addresses upon "Woman's Suffrage," given by Mrs. McCulloch, Mrs. Trout, Miss Nichols and Mrs. Emma S. Stewart.

Convincing arguments and startling statistics made the hearers feel that Illinois needed the help of her women which could only be effectually had through the possession of the ballot. A plan of organization, through which more efficient work may be done, was presented by the President, Mrs. Emma S. Stewart, with an appeal for the loyal support of such an organization.
