América ambassador, Dr. Hill, subsequently Peary returned to the United States. His interests were guarded by Attorney Jablonski, a partner of Victor Schneider, counsel to the American embassy, while Herr Thiel represented Francke. The latter was present, but was not called to the stand.

The proceedings were before three judges of the provincial court. In opening for the plaintiff Thiel spoke longer than an hour, going over the whole story of the equipment of Cook's expedition, the building of the supply station at Etah, on the north-west coast of Greenland, the hunting in that vicinity, Cook's departure toward the pole, Francke's illness, the arrival of Peary and Francke's return home in the Peary relief ship Erik.

Roosevelt Received Tusks.
Attorney Thiel asserted that Peary had caused the plaintiff to turn over to him certain blue fox skins, furs and narwhal tusks as the only condition on which he would take him from the arctic regions, where, if deserted, he believed he would die. The lawyer argued that the transaction was illegal in that it was made under stress. He said that a pair of narwhal tusks
