FRANCIS JOSEPH IS EIGHTY YEARS OLD

Relatives of Austria's Aged Ruler Celebrate His Birthday in Little Town of Ischl.

Ischl, Upper Austria, Aug. 18.—Francis Joseph, the emperor-king of Austria-Hungary, is eighty years old today, and all the country is celebrating, while here in this little town, scores of the members of the house of Hapsburg are assembled to do honor to the head of the family. Ischl is finely decorated in Alpine fashion with garlands of pine and juniper and all the beautiful mountain flowers, and this evening great bonfires will be lighted on many mountain tops.

So many of the aged ruler's relatives are here that he had to receive them in groups at the imperial villa, where he has been living for more than a month. The first to congratulate the emperor were the members of his immediate family. These included his two daughters, Archduchesses Gisela and Marie Valerie, their husbands and children, Archduchess Elizabeth Marie, the daughter of the late crown prince, with her two children, and the emperor's only surviving brother, Archduke Ludwig Victor. Then came the other family groups in the order of their right to the throne.

At 8 o'clock a grand dinner was given by the emperor to all the adults of the imperial family in the Kursaal. The guests numbered 76, all members of the house of Hapsburg. The children had their own festive table in the villa.

During the day the emperor received messages of congratulation from all the rulers of the civilized world and from hundreds of other persons in foreign lands as well as in his own dominions where he is so deeply beloved. He seems to be in robust health and has been taking long walks daily and going on deer hunts whenever the weather permitted.

Emperor Francis Joseph.

FEVER REVEALS BIG STEAL

Discrepancies Found in Accounts of Clerk, Who is Dying Ignorant of Discovery.

New York, Aug. 18.—Adolph Gabriel, confidential clerk for a New York leather company, is dying of typhoid fever in his uptown residence, unconscious of the fact that an examination of his books, made since he became ill, has revealed discrepancies which led a Supreme court justice to issue an attachment against him for $36,000.

Gabriel had been in the employ of the concern for ten years, and such confidence was reposed in him that no examination of his books had been made in several years.

According to his employers, it was discovered soon after he fell ill that he had filled in several checks for amounts greater than were indicated by the stubs, or by the cash book. An examination followed, and showed, it is alleged, that he had converted the difference to his own use, between September, 1907, and July, 1910—at least $36,000 being missing.

Most of the money is believed by officers of the leather company to have gone into unsuccessful ventures in Wall street.

BEEF TRUST IS HIT

GOVERNMENT ATTORNEYS PLAYS TRUMP CARDS IN CONTEMPT CASE.

REVEALS HURRIED VACATION

Witness Shaw, on Cross-Examination, Bares Facts Not Hitherto Admitted in the Hearing—First Severe Blow for the Defense.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Trump cards were played by the government in the hearing before Judge Kenesaw M. Landis of the case of Alfred R. Urion, chief counsel for Armour & Co., cited with three other Armour attach-ees to show cause why they should not be held in contempt.

W. W. Shaw, chief stenographer for the packing firm and one of the most deft with Urion, who previously has been the star witness for the defense, made what was regarded by the government attorney as damaging statements while under a merciless cross-examination by Assistant District Attorney James H. Wilkerson.

Defense Gets First Blow

This was the first severe blow dealt the defense since the hearing began before Judge Landis Monday, and its effect was noticeable in the ranks of attorneys representing the Armour interests.

That the government counsel had something planned was apparent soon after court convened. Assistant Attorney General W. S. Kenyon, who came from Washington to guide the local government attorneys in the beef investigation, and District Attorney Edwin W. Sims were constantly conferring with Assistant District Attorneys Wilkerson and Ellis Goodman during the early part of the court session.

They had prepared to recall Shaw to the stand when he was recalled by Attorney Miller. In answer to question of Mr. Miller, Mr. Shaw testified that he began checking out the notebooks, the burning of which caused the present hearing, on July 31. This testimony appeared to surprise the government attorneys, and after Mr. Miller's brief examination the witness was questioned by Mr. Wilkerson.

Witness Becomes Confused

Shaw became confused for the first time since he appeared in the case and seemed to lose his self-possession. The cross-examining attorney had him at his mercy, and information said to be of much value in the government's case was drawn from him.

Here are the matters related by Shaw that were not told before by him, either in court or before the grand jury:

That he made a third trip to the stationery department, where the notebooks were being prepared for destruction, on the afternoon of Thursday, August 5, when he testified they were destroyed.

That he saw the janitors when they came for the boxes with the purpose of taking them to the furnace room and burning them.

That he told Henry Edmonds, to whom the request for the books was made by the grand jury, that all the books had been destroyed without looking at the record to see if any had been turned in during the past five days.

Takes Hurried Vacation

That he had been packing the note books for several days when he told the grand jury that he hurriedly checked them out on Thursday because he was going on his vacation.

That he had drawn no money for his vacation, as is the custom at Armour's, and had not made a request of his superior officer for a vacation.

George W. Willetts, assistant office manager for Armour & Co., followed Shaw on the stand. Mr. Willetts said the books had been destroyed in the regular course of business and following a system that had been in effect in the Armour offices for more than ten years.

OBJECTS TO 10 CHILDREN

With Four of His Own Offspring Man Objects to Supporting Those of Second Wife.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 18.—Frederick Sprink draws the line at "marrying an entire family." He has asked for a divorce, saying in his petition that he is willing to support his wife, but not her ten children by a former husband, and her son-in-law.

Sprink had four children of his own when he married a second time at Port Clinton, Ohio, in 1900. His petition says at the time of the marriage it was agreed he would not be called on to support his wife's ten children and son-in-law.

The divorce applicant says the family spent his wages for groceries and clothes, so that he was unable to attend his mother's funeral.

WHY WOMEN GROW OLD EARLY

Through a Mistaken Idea of Duty She Permits Her Life to Become a Treadmill.

Why do some women grow old and others keep the secret of perpetual youth? Here is one answer:

One reason why the average woman wears out, grows plain before her husband, is that, through a mistaken idea of duty, she lays out for herself at the beginning of her married life a scheme or plan of duty and employment for her time, every hour filled with work, with rare and short periods of relaxation.

This she follows religiously for years, feeling that she has done her duty, because every household event occurs regularly and on time, while she soon becomes merely a machine, a thing without life of itself or volition. She settles into a rut, and goes round and round on the same track everlastingly.

Can any woman keep brightness, originality of thought or speech, or even mere prettiness with such a life? And without those things how can she keep her husband and growing children full of loving admiration, which is the strong chain by which she can bind them to her? How bright and jolly the neighbor's wife seems when she calls. In nine cases out of ten it is because the surroundings and talk of your home are variety to her, and rouse her to originality and brightness of speech.

Cultivate a broad attitude toward the world and its people. Let your interests be far-reaching, and there will be renewed vigor when it comes to solve the problems of the home.
