pressday joys

There's trouble in the print-shop No language can express, For Friday's rolled around again, The day we go to press.

The compositors are hustling fast, Each has a dirty proof, The make-up man is cussin' In a way to raise the roof.

The "devil's', pied a galley full Of solid nonpariel. The toreman's saying things to him That makes the brimstone smell.

The stenographer is 'jawin' bout An ink-spot on her dress, And any gol-durned fool can tell We're trying to get to press.

Everything is all "balled up," The forms are in a mess, And now the old Man's asking: When we're going to press?

Through the room there rings aloud A peircing hell-born wail-The office dog is velpin', cause They, ve stepped upon his tail.

The pressman now is ready-but The d-d old forms wont "lift," So he whittles out a "dutchman" And gives his quid a shift.

The forms on the press at last, The press is running great-But we've got to take 'em off again-"Forgot to change the date!"

They're on again; the motor's down; We're running swift and slick, But a paper's on the rollers now, And you bet it's there to stick.

The whole d-n bunch is mad as sin, And cussin' more or less, For hell breaks loose on Friday, when The paper goes to press.
