DID THIS CHRISTMAS PAY?

Among the mountains of North Carolina, perched on a hillside is a comfortable little cabin which bears the cozy name of "Inglenook," but is called by the two little foster children who are fortunate enough to live there, "Dearie Home." All around it are mountains which stand in grandeur against the sky, beautiful forests, and dashing waters; but homes that are pinched by poverty beyond our believing; lives that are starved by ignorance of the very things which we take most for granted as our rights; and yet that have a pathetic hunger for the best. And out from Inglenook, through the efforts of two consecrated, unselfish women, is flowing into these poor homes something of comfort, of knowledge, and even of pleasure.

A small schoolhouse has been furnished; for on the mountain-sides there are a hundred and forty-six children with no privileges; and this year a good teacher has been secured, who, on Sunday, mounts the platform and tells the story of God's love to the people. And the good workers at Inglenook must trust to the precarious gifts of friends for the raising of his small salary.

Into this community came Christmas; and through the same instrumentality one hundred and ninety-eight dear little souls received a present off the "Good Shepherd" tree; warm clothes that had been sent in barrels, or some other needed thing; and all the aged, sick and very poor were remembered.

Best of all, not a boy or man in the whole settlement touched any liquor during the holiday season; a thing unprecedented in the history of the place. One old fellow said: "There's mothers and fathers and wives a blessing you and your Christmas tree this day, 'cause the boys respect you, and they're keeping sober 'cause you've gone to all this trouble for us all."

Now comes word that the school must close unless funds can be raised to meet the teacher's salary. Will anyone make a post-Christmas offering, that Christ may indeed be born again in this part of His Kingdom, which has so long been in ignorance of His love? If anyone is inclined to give to this work please communicate with Mrs. D. N. Sharpe, Edneyville, North Carolina or Mrs. R. P. DAVIDSON, Military Academy, Highland Park, Illinois.

BIG TIME FOR HIGHWOOD AERIE

Annual Installation of Officers Marked by Large Gathering—President O'Keefe Given Diamond Badge.

Last Friday evening Highwood Eagles held a big time, it being the occasion of the annual installation. Waukegan Aerie and Garfield Aerie 1113 had charge of the installation of the officers and the guests from Waukegan, Evanston and other places with the Highwood members, numbered 200. In fact, it was the biggest event held by the North Shore Eagles for some time.

Following the work of installation, Wm. Deane of Waukegan, on behalf of Highwood lodge, presented, President John O'Keefe, Secretary a Treasurer of the Railway Men's Home of our city, with a handsome diamond studded Eagle button which the president accepted, in well chosen words. A flashlight picture of the gathering followed.

It was an interesting coincidence that it was Mr. O'Keefe who was the one to present Mr. Deane with a similar emblem, presented from the local aerie, a week ago.

At the time Mr. O'Keefe presented the emblem to Mr. Deane the latter was about as surprised as one could be. It was entirely unexpected and like Mr. O'Keefe, he was unable to express his appreciation in coherent form. Both men have done much to build the two aeries to their present high status and are held in the highest esteem by all members.

The officers installed are as follows: John O'Keefe—Worthy President. John Peterson—Vice President. F. D. Tucker—Chaplain. C. J. Lehmkuhl—Secretary. E. A. Huestis—Treasurer. J. W. Fradine—Inside Guard. H. Lehmkuhl—Outside Guard. Trustees—John Reesman, Chas. Gunset, John Hart. Physician—Dr. Bergen.
