Galesburg.—With a bullet wound in his right lung and another through his neck, Al Kennedy of Abingdon is lying in a precarious condition in a hospital here. Kennedy stubbornly refuses to divulge any circumstances, but says he was drinking. It is learned from other sources that the shooting occurred during a row in Monmouth, and that Raucé Downey is under arrest there charged with the crime. Officers intimate there was a woman in the case.

Tamaroa.—The first meeting of the Perry County Teachers' association conducted by Elmo W. Lee, the newly elected county superintendent of schools, was held at Tamaroa and was attended by nearly 100 teachers. Work in the primary grades was discussed by Misses Ella Schaub of Pinckneyville and Tena Golden of Duquoin; intermediate by Misses Cora Devlinney of Pinckneyville, Nora Viers of Mathews and Fay Williams of Duquoin, and grammar and high school by C. J. McKelvey of Swanwick and Miss Mollie Fulton of Pinckneyville. B. V. Latham of Tamaroa delivered an address and Rev. C. F. Stalker of Tamaroa gave a chalk talk.

Shelbyville.—Huffer Bryson shot and perhaps fatally injured Al Duval when the latter attacked him in his own home. Duval's shotgun missed fire and Bryson fired with a rifle. Duval was drinking and quarrelsome. Bryson came to town and gave himself up. After hearing an account of the affair and knowing Duval's disposition the officials declined to take him into custody.

Carlinville.—Naming Mrs. Minnie Ellis, a divorcee prominent in Alton society, as co-respondent, Mrs. Caroline S. Bradley filed suit for divorce from Rev. Dr. H. Bradley of Upper Alton, president of the faculty of Blackburn university. The bill, which states that the couple were married January 1, 1892, and have a son twelve years old, also charges Bradley with entertaining women visitors at his home in his wife's absence and that last June he ordered his wife to leave the house. Fearing violence, Mrs. Bradley avers, she obeyed the order and has not since returned. She asks custody of the child. Mrs. Bradley is a daughter of Edgar Scheels of Upper Alton.

Eight—Twenty-four canaries, selected songsters, have been purchased by Superintendent Sidney D. Wilgus of Egin State hospital to help cure inmates of the institution which he is head of.

Chicago.—No agreement between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the railroads west, north and south of Chicago over the wage dispute was reached at the two conferences with United States Commissioner Charles P. Nell, mediator.

Vandalia.—Temperance lodge, No. 16, A. F. & A. M., has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: R. W. Hickman, worshipful master; A. S. McKeller, senior warden; Charles S. Stout, junior warden; J. A. Gordon, treasurer; Herbert E. Morey, secretary.

Chicago.—Mrs. Mary Coolbaugh Fuller White, wife of W. H. White, is dead at her home here. Mrs. White was one of eight daughters of the late Melville W. Fuller, chief justice of the United States Supreme court.

Bloomington.—A call was issued for a meeting of presidents and other faculty members of all normal schools of Illinois to be held here to arrange a campaign against the proposed centralized school of the University of Illinois.

Bloomington.—Mrs. Hannah Yarger, while en route from her home in Shelbyville, Mo., to Freeport, where she expected to enter a sanitarium, died on an Illinois Central train.

Aurora.—A clue which may lead to the arrest of Henry W. Morris, prominent Plano man accused of murdering Mrs. Estelle Dumas in the streets of Montgomery Saturday night, was furnished Chief of Police Frank Michaels. He has been told that the fugitive is being sheltered and treated for self-inflicted bullet wounds in the home of a farmer friend less than two miles from the scene of the murder.

Blood spots found on the bank of the Fox river a quarter of a mile from the abandoned house in which Morris took refuge would indicate that he staggered into the river and was drowned. There is one person who is almost sure that Morris has not committed suicide and that is his wife at Plano. She believes that he will be found alive and told Chief of Police Michaels that she would do all in her power to help convict him. "My husband is too much of a coward to ever commit suicide, even in a fix like this," Mrs. Morris told the chief.

Last year Alaska produced $20,463, 000 gold, or about three times what Uncle Sam paid for the big territory. Some day Secretary Seward will have a fine monument as a good judge of a real estate bargain.

WHITNEY OPERA HOUSE: Helen Ware, who is making her first tour as star in a new military drama entitled "The Deserters," will be the attraction at the Whitney Opera House next Sunday night, Jan. 22.

Henry B. Harris, under whose management Miss Ware is appearing, has rewarded this young emotional actress with stellar promotion because of her splendid achievements in the past. But her one characterization which stood out most boldly, and which was the crowning success of a remarkable series of impersonations, was her superb portrayal of the young wife, Anna Jefferies in "The Third Degree." That remarkably human and appealing portrait will live in the memory of theatergoers long after the play has been forgotten. It served to establish Miss Ware as one of our foremost emotional actresses.

"The Deserters" enjoyed a very successful three month's engagement at the Hudson Theatre, New York, and will be presented at the Whitney with the original cast and production. The story briefly, is as follows:

A lieutenant stationed at an army post in the West, knocks a superior officer insensible in a quarrel over a woman. Thinking he has killed him, the lieutenant quits the post. But the man was only stunned, and is later surprised in the woman's arms, this time by her husband, who shoots him. At his wife's suggestion and in order to protect himself, the husband gets the missing lieutenant's pistol and lays it by the side of the dead man. This bit of evidence coupled with the disappearance of its owner, lends the appearance of guilt and a young woman detective in the employ of the government is engaged to trace the deserter. The story of how she at last finds her quarry and falls in love with him provides a gripping interest that is maintained until the final curtain.

The excellent company supporting Miss Ware includes such well known artists as Orme Caldara, Lotta Linthicum, Howard Hall, Isabell Garrison, James I. Ryan, Lawrence Sheehan, Edward C. Howard and Eleanor Stuart.
