Mrs. Benjamin Newhall entertained a few friends at luncheon on Monday.

Mr. John Duford of Ottawa, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitelaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lamprecht have gone east for a month. They will visit New York and several other eastern cities before their return.

Mrs. C. W. Hess is seriously ill at her home on Hawthorne Ave.

The little two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schroeder was operated on last Saturday, and at present is doing nicely.

Mr. Russell Edwards left Wednesday evening for Alpha, Ill. to spend several days.

Mrs. Mary Schramm an old resident of Glencoe died at her home on Tuesday January 31, of pneumonia. Miss Schramm was buried on Friday, Feb. 1, at Gross Point.

The Siamese Cat. Siamese cats, with their curious markings and loud, discordant voices, are favorite pets.

In many respects these animals of Siamese breed are unique among felines. They follow their owners like dogs; they are exceedingly affectionate and insist upon attention, and they mew loudly and constantly, as if trying to talk. They have more vivacity and less dignity than usually falls to the lot of cats.

In color they vary from pale fawn through shades of brown to chocolate. There are two varieties, the temple cats and the palace cats, the principal difference between the two being that the palace breed is darker in color.

The Gordian Knot.

The famous Gordian knot was made of leather taken from some part of the harness belonging to the chariot of Gordius, king of Phrygia. It seems that this knot was so tied that the ends of the leather thong was not visible hence the difficulty in loosening it. Many must have tried to untie it, for its fame as a "stickler" at last reached the great Oracle, which declared that the lucky experimenter should be rewarded by the kingship of Persia. Alexander, trying his hand and meeting with no better success than the others, drew his sword and cut into the knot until he found the ends of it.

Mr. A. Robertson the leading hardware dealer of our city is continually enlarging his stock, and at present I think it will keep him guessing where to place more if he keeps on placing in newstock. But bear in mind his sales are large.

Don't fail to notice Mr. Dale Sweetland's show window at the drug store on the West side. It is here that you get pure drugs, at reasonable prices, also school books in fact anything in the line of drugs can be purchased there.

A SEVEN CENT SUPPER

The Ladies Auxiliary of the First M. E. Church of North Highland Park gave a Seven Cent Supper in a vacant store on Waukegan ave., Highland, last Thursday evening. The affair was a decided success, the receipts from which totaled about $45. The novelty of the affair together with the excellence of the brands provided by the ladies, seemed to meet with the universal approbation of the guests, a hundred and fifty of whom partook of the novel "feed." We append the bill of fare which may interest some of the other churches seeking an avenue to extend their efforts and gather in shekels.

Obituary.

Monday, Jan., 23, 1911, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Albert Yager, Highland, Ill., occurred the death of Mrs. Kate Brainerd.

Mrs. Brainerd was 57 years of age and was the daughter of the late Judge Noggle who was Judge on the Circuit Court at Janesville, Wis., for many years. Besides one daughter, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. R. W. Ruffer of Monroe, Wis., Mrs. Norman A. Brumley of Canajoharie, N. Y., Mrs. John McGlinchey of Payette, Idaho, and one brother, Major D. L. Noggle of San Francisco, her eldest brother, Capt. C. L. Noggle, having died Jan. 28, 1911. A sister, Mrs. C. G. Williams passed away only a few months ago. Mrs. R. T. Campbell of Watertown, South Dakota is a niece and Mr. Ward Williams of Janesville, Wis., is a nephew.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yager wishes to thank the K. P. Lodge, the Ladies Eagles Auxiliary and the Highland Aerie No. 1366 F. O. E. and the Highland Fire Department and all friends for the kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent bereavement.

Walter Harrison who walked to his home in our city from the Boy's school at Glenwood and was paroled later by Judge Persons was returned to the school, owing to the fact that as his mother was away most of the time, the boy had nothing to do but to stay on the streets. —Waukegan Gazette.

A SIDE DISH JUST BETWEEN YOU AND ME

FATHER AND MOTHER, WHERE ARE YOUR DAUGHTER'S TO-NIGHT.

Working late at night makes it necessary for me to take a mid-night car in order to reach my home at Ravinia. As I stand on the platform waiting for the car and see young girls passing under the arc-lights in crossing the streets I could not help but wonder if the "Father's and Mother's of those fourteen year old girls "knew where their daughters are to-night.

Does the parents of those twelve, fourteen, fifteen and sixteen year old girls know that their daughters are out all hours of the night in place of being at their home or at the homes of those who employ them. It is very common to see those young girls darting under the arc-lights in crossing the streets at all hours of the night; it was only a week ago I saw standing across the street and leaning against the picket fence which incloses the Hawkins property a young girl and a soldier, she pleading with him to accompany her home, but it appears they had had some words and he declined to do so, after which she started home alone sobbing bitterly as she left him, while he with a cigarette in his mouth muttered an oath and went staggering in the opposite direction. Oh, dear parents, do you know where your daughters are to-night?

As I think to myself, who is to blame for young girls that are the making of model women going astray: In a flash the echo comes back to me "The Father and Mother."

At the age of twelve, fourteen and fifteen the parents send those girls out to make their own living, they do their days work, and are at liberty till the next morning; there being neither pleasure nor comfort at home, nor allowed company, they promenade the streets at all hours of the night, while the parents at home are not giving them a thought, not thinking that that dear daughter, the making of a model woman is in the power of some trifling man. Oh, again I ask, where does the fault lie? The same echo came back to me "Father and Mother."

Many of those young girls, as above stated are the making of model women and it is the parents duty to know where they are, and with whom they are. But no, some of you are greedy only for the dollar they earn therefore the daughter is neglected.

I am glad to learn that on last Sunday this subject was made mention of by Rev. Bishop Swengle at the United Evangelical Church also by Rev. Doctor O'Neil, pastor of St. Mary's church and it is hoped the same will be hurried from all the churches in our city until parents become to realize that they have made a mistake by not knowing "Where the daughter is to-night."

THANK YOU JACK, NO MORE FOR ME, OH NO.

I will never enter a railroad car between two policemen again, oh no, not me. For further information inquire of Mr. J. Sheahan our gentlemanly Chief of Police or Mr. Merriman, one of our city policemen. Boys this is one on me, so meet me at Mr. Green's cigar and stationary store and smoke a genuine Havana. But in the future, rest assured I will keep a distance of fourteen hundred feet between you two and I.

The Theaters.

The best exemplification of the old saying that "Nothing succeeds like Success" is to be found at the College Theatre, Webster and Sheffield avenues, where hundreds are turned away almost every night in the week. Manager T. C. Gleason has virtually resurrected this theatre from the 'Jonah' class and it is now one of the best theatres in the city, with a stock company second to none, presenting the greatest and best known plays of the day. The business during the week, when "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" was presented, was phenomenal, not one vacant seat being left at any of the regular performances, and necessitating an extra matinee Friday, at which practically every seat was sold. This week, commencing Monday, Jan 30, Eugene Walter's great domestic play, "Paid in Full"

will be presented with the best cast ever seen in stock. A comparison of the original Chicago company which ran for 12 weeks at the Grand Opera House, with that which is to be seen at the College, may not be amiss, and will prove of undoubted interest:

Characters—Joseph Brooks, James (Jimmy) Smith, Captain Williams, Sato, Emma Brooks, Mrs. Harris and Beth Harris.

Original Cast—Guy Bates Post, Albert Brown, Scott Cooper, Geo. Belden, Helen Ware, Florence Robertson, Marion Berg.

College Theatre—Henry W. Rowell, Rodney Ranous, Smith Davies, Robert Bently, Marie Nelson, Camille D'Arcy, Virginia Berry.

Thus it will be seen that our cast has been selected with a view to make it as nearly conform to that of the original as possible. Miss Helen Ware, the original Emma is now starring in the city, and efforts will be made to have her witness a performance of the play "Paid in Full" for an entire season at the Astor Theatre, New York, and has been one of the greatest road successes of all times, being considered the best of all the good plays which Mr. Walter has written. It is vital, interesting and thrilling from start to finish and is bound to hold the spectator fast in his seat.

"The Clansman," Rev. Thomas Dixon's great play, follows February 6th, and the advance sale denotes another capacity week, so that those who care to see this fine play had better secure their seats at once. The schedule of plays for the rest of the season is on as high a plane as the above three mentioned, and the College Theatre Stock Company will continue to maintain its standard of quality till the end of the season.

Old Custom Survives.

Uckfield has just held its annual pea supper, a function which owes its origin to a practical joke. Fifteen years ago a plot of land belonging to a resident became, on account of its neglected state, such an eyesore to his fellow-townsmen that they took the matter into their own hands and dug it up. The owner resolved to profit by their labor and plant the field, but on his next visit to the spot he found to his annoyance, that it had already been sown with peas.

Soon, however, anger gave place to amusement, and he laughingly told the perpetrators of the joke that they would have to eat the peas, says London Titbits. This in due course they did, and from that day the celebration has grown yearly in popularity. Over 50 sat down a week back to a capital repast of peas, bacon and other excellent fare.

Fletcher's Folly.

The late Levi Fletcher of Hollis left behind an automobile of his own manufacture that was known throughout the countryside as "Fletcher's folly." He was perhaps the first man in New England to start to perfect and build a power vehicle. The builder was handicapped by lack of means and tools, and as ordinary ones were used on the machine it was impossible to move it up the hills. —Kennebec Journal.
